U.S. Fighting Preferences Says John D

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Wednesday night that the United States, among other countries, takes "strong objections" to the system of Commonwealth trade preferences.

He also reiterated that Britain's entry into the European Common Market might place a "strain" on the Commonwealth.

Mr. Diefenbaker, currently campaigning in Newfoundland, made the statements in a television address filmed here earlier.

Mr. Diefenbaker said trade is "one of the essential links in the bonds of Commonwealth," every member of which had benefitted from the existing system of preferences.

STRONG OBJECTIONS

"I believe it is imperative that these trading advantages shall not be done away with. There are some countries, including the United States, which have taken strong objections to these preferences in trade."

CONCLUDED TALKS

Tuesday Mr. Diefenbaker concluded two days of talks here with British Prime Minister Macmillan, mainly on the Common Market issue.

The Canadian leader said Wednesday night Britain has the right to decide for herself whether to join the Common Market.

PLACE STRAIN

"However, if she does join, questions arise which must be answered. Would she agree to place a strain on the Commonwealth as she commits her primary allegiance to Europe and undertakes to accept decisions of European institutions of the future?"

ONLY DOING DUTY

Mr. Diefenbaker said Canada and the other members of the Commonwealth have been "doing their duty" in pointing out how their trade might be weakened unless reasonable favorable terms are secured by Britain.

NEED FOR TERMS

"As a result of these representations the six nations of the Commonwealth realize that if the United Kingdom is to enter the Common Market they must recognize the need for terms that will assure that the bonds within the Commonwealth trade shall not be sacrificed."

Canada had "taken a stand that Britain fully understands."

COMES FIRST

Britain agreed that preservation of the Commonwealth comes first and that she will not join "the six" on terms that would "permanently or detrimentally" affect Commonwealth trade relations.

The communique issued following Mr. Diefenbaker's talks with Mr. Macmillan "answers once and for all the unjust, even untrue, propaganda that we have been opposed to Britain, or have been acting in a way that was unfair to Britain."

SAFEGUARDING

The communique said Mr. Macmillan had reaffirmed his government's determination to safeguard Commonwealth interests, and that Mr. Diefenbaker had expressed confidence Britain would "do its utmost" to that end.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that if a 20-per-cent tariff wall were placed around Common Market countries, including the United Kingdom, "it would have its effect on Canadian trade."

He mentioned Canadian exports of flour, wheat, lumber.

Mac Leaves For Home

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan left for home Wednesday night amid strong indications that his visit gave Canadians a new understanding of problems facing Britain and its future links with Europe and the Commonwealth.

A spokesman for the British leader said Mr. Macmillan "feels that people responded well to his explanation of questions confronting Britain."

Bennett Relaxes For Campaign

Premier Bennett is going to sit back a while before throwing himself into the federal election campaign.

But he admitted yesterday that a cross-Canada tour may be in the cards.

"It's too early to have a schedule yet," he said at a press conference. "These other fellows are starting their campaigns far too early. Campaigning six to eight weeks before an election is ridiculous. Three weeks is enough."

He denied reports that he is to speak in the Maritimes in the next few days.

"I may go across in the last three weeks," he said.

Atomic Ships For Canada In the Future

QUEBEC CITY (UPI)—Canada will have nuclear warships when the ship and construction costs are smaller, Vice-Adm. H. H. Rayner, chief of the Canadian naval staff, said last night.

Adm. Rayner said the present nuclear submarines were very big and extremely costly, but Canada was hoping that in the near future smaller submarines, similarly powered by nuclear force, could join the fleet.

Looking ahead, the admiral said: "I can foresee a large group of general purpose frigates making us a great impact in international naval circles."

Both Australia and New Zealand had expressed similar concern.

salmon and chemicals. Seventy-six per cent of Canada's would be affected, he said.

Mr. Diefenbaker said trade is "one of the essential links in the bonds of Commonwealth," every member of which had benefitted from the existing system of preferences.

Unions Lost 500,000

NEW YORK (UPI)—Membership in U.S. labor unions was reduced by about 500,000 between 1955 and 1961, it was reported yesterday.

The National Industrial Conference Board said the loss of members was the result of a trend that started in 1945 when decreasing gains in membership were first noted.

Sewn-Up Vote Frays at Parting

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—"Well, sir, glad to meet you, Mike," said 52-year-old A. S. Towgood as he pumped Lester Pearson's hand when the Liberal leader visited a senior citizens' home here Wednesday.

"And I'm glad to meet you," said Mr. Pearson.

Surprise from Fleming Dollar Pegged at 92½c Ending 12-Year 'Float'

Unfair To Fair?

A. E. Walters, president of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said last night there are obvious advantages accruing from pegging of the Canadian dollar at 92½ cents U.S. "But, by gosh, it's going to make it difficult for us to go to the Seattle World's Fair."

Exports Get Big Lift

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonial Business Editor

Pegging of the Canadian dollar at around 92½ cents U.S. will benefit British Columbia's important export business to a degree that cannot be entirely measured in annual dollars.

It will enable industries—notably the forest industry—to get into world markets which they were unable to reach on a competitive basis at a higher dollar exchange level.

This will also be true for the mining industry which B.C. is going full tilt to provide iron and copper ores and coal for Japan.

The advantage to the mining industry will not only be in the shape of bigger profits, but also will enable more marginal ore to be considered worthy of development.

Nuclear Force For NATO Dead, Unburied

ATHENS (CP)—The NATO trend today is against the further spread of nuclear weapons within the alliance.

The United States was making this plain as foreign and defence ministers gathered in Athens for today's opening of the NATO council meeting.

External Affairs Minister Green and Defence Minister Harkness of Canada arrived by RCAF Comet jetliner after a 16-hour journey which saw their flight diverted as far north as Frobisher Bay to avoid a giant storm over Newfoundland and Greenland.

Observers here say any plan for a NATO nuclear force is to all intents and purposes, dead and finished.

But West Germany insisted on the eve of the NATO strategy sessions that the Atlantic alliance make a decision on whether to move farther than one percentage point on either side of the 92½-cent rate.

The International Monetary Fund has been urging Canada to adopt a fixed exchange rate and Mr. Fleming's statement said the new rate has been

PRICE $1.05

The new rate means that Canadians will have to pay $1.05 for a U.S. dollar.

The drop in rate is expected to give a strong boost to export earnings and discourage still further import buying by making import prices, in Canadian dollars, higher.

COSTLIER HOLIDAYS

It will mean, among other things, costlier vacation trips in the U.S. for Canadians—and cheaper ones in Canada for American tourists.

For the government, the pegging of the dollar will mean—under rules of the International Monetary Fund—that the government's exchange fund will have to intervene in the market by buying or selling U.S. dollars to ensure that the exchange rate doesn't move farther than one percentage point on either side of the 92½-cent rate.

Dollar Pegged

A statement by the fund, issued here, said the move "is warmly welcomed by the fund."

Mr. Fleming's statement said the government's "very extensive financial resources" and its domestic and international policies "will be directed to maintaining the stability of our exchange rate at this definitive level."

The statement also indicated, however, that the floating rate on the dollar has been under continued downward pressure during April—as it has been since the start of the year.

SPENT $115,000,000

It said the exchange fund spent $115,000,000 during April when the demand for foreign-exchange exceeded the supply.

Since the start of the year the fund has been funneling U.S. dollars into the market to offset downward pressures on the Canadian dollar rate. A total $309,100,000 in U.S. dollars were spent in this way—in effect, a drain on Canada's foreign exchange reserves.

RESERVES HIT HARD

In the last six months the exchange reserves have dropped by nearly one-quarter from their peak of $2,110,000,000 in gold and U.S. dollars on Oct. 31 to $1,585,000,000 at the end of April. This compared with $1,811,800,000 at the end of April last year.

Walter Gordon, Liberal party economic spokesman and chairman of the party's election campaign committee, called it "a financial crisis" and said the pressure on the dollar has come from withdrawal of funds by foreign investors.

GRAT ADVANTAGE

Mr. Fleming, however, said it is expected the move "will be of great advantage to the Canadian economy."

The minister's statement said that while the floating rate has had certain advantages, "the government has concluded that it would be desirable to give those engaged in international transactions firm assurance of stability with regard to the exchange rate."

For a decade, he said, Canada had faced large deficits in its international trade in goods and services which were associated with excessive imports of foreign capital and the resulting over-valuation of the Canadian dollar.

The government had made substantial progress in bringing the exchange rate to a level more in keeping with the country's balance of payments. Now, his statement added, it was possible to give the market the advantages and the security of a fixed exchange rate.

Desperate Measure Says Sacred Chief

OTTAWA (CP)—Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson said Wednesday night the pegging of the Canadian dollar at 92 cents in American money is "a desperate measure to perk up a declining economy."

"Though its immediate effect may be an improved trade situation, it is certain to lead to an increased cost of living for Canadians in the long run," he said in an interview.

The government's decision to establish a new exchange rate reflected the "extremely serious balance of payments situation which Canada has drifted into," he said.

He said this situation had been drawn publicly to the government's attention more than a year ago by the former Bank of Canada governor James Coyne.

Fleming 'Reversal'

CALGARY (CP)—The pegging of the Canadian dollar at 92 cents in terms of United States currency was described last night by Liberal leader Pearson as an act that was rejected recently by the government.

Mr. Fleming "has done something he once said he'd never do," he said.

Shot in Arm, Says Bonner

British Columbia Trade Minister Robert Bonner last night hailed pegging of the Canadian dollar at 92 cents as a shot in the arm to every B.C. exporter but termed the move a reversal.

He recalled that as far back as 1955 during the "tight money" crisis on the Canadian economic scene, Premier Bennett had publicly advocated such a move.

More recently, he went on, the premier told the Vancouver Board of Trade a few weeks ago that devaluation was a step in the right direction but that the dollar "should be closer to 90 cents."

He said that due to intensive export sales campaigns by say what percentage of the $25,000,000 issue had been bought by the B.C. public, whether the majority had been sold to U.S. investors, or anything else.

NOT FOR FUN

"Well, dealers say..." began a reporter.

"You can take anybody's word you like!" he snapped. "We certainly can get rid of the $24,200,000. This isn't for fun. But I do want to say there is not a thing this government has done which hasn't been opposed."

He said there would be no more advertising of the bond issue.

NO PRINTING PRESS

Where would he get the money?

"Where does cash come from, my friend?" he replied. "The government doesn't have a printing press."

A reporter asked him to explain the mechanics of raising bond money.

"All I go by is cash," said Premier Bennett. "And I'm not giving any further details. I'm not going to give you any further information. All I will say is that the $25,000,000 issue was oversold without any government buying at all. It was oversubscribed by millions of dollars. But there may be some government buying in the $24,200,000 issue."

BELOW PRICE

Investment dealers have claimed that only about 25 per cent of the $25,000,000 issue had been taken up and bonds were selling below the issue price in Vancouver yesterday.

Premier Bennett said there would be no allotment to dealers in the next $24,200,000 issue.

"But they can sell them if they wish," he said. Premier Bennett claimed that the credit of B.C. was never better and was the highest in any part of Canada.

Nuclear

whether NATO is going to acquire a nuclear striking force.

Arriving Wednesday night for the annual meeting, Defence Chief Strauss of West Germany said the session "will be called upon to approve or reject a series of proposals on the creation of a NATO nuclear force drafted by a NATO subcommittee."

OFFER ALTERNATIVE

As an alternative to a NATO nuclear strike force, the U.S. is offering its NATO partners some form of control. In effect, the U.S. president would spell out for the European members of NATO under what circumstances American nuclear weapons stationed in Europe would be used. This is designed to stop the growth of independent nuclear forces.

This plan is similar to the one which governs North American Air Defence Command where Canada and the U.S. have, as nearly as possible, determined in advance how they would react to different situations.

FRANCE OPPOSED

France is dead set against the American alternative because it wants the U.S., in effect, to show it how to build a launchable nuclear bomb.

But the U.S. position against this French attitude is reported to have hardened.

On the Berlin issue, it now appears possible that there may be an agreement on international control over access routes to West Berlin. Presumably this control would be provided by neutral nations. Canada is believed in favor of such a move.

Harkness will speak at a meeting of defence ministers today and likely will deal mainly with defence production-sharing and Canada's conventional buildup since last fall. The foreign ministers take over Friday for talks that day, Saturday and Sunday.

Veterans to Meet

Canadian National Railways Veterans No. 6 will hold its next meeting Friday at 2 p.m. in the Knights of Pythias Hall, Cormorant Street.

Look at Those Sparks Fly! But They're Not Dangerous

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: All winter when I change the linen on the beds I get electric shocks. You should see the sparks fly. Is there any help for people like me?—MRS. S. A. T.

Anybody can encounter this sparkly experience with static electricity. Small electric charges are created by friction, especially when conditions are dry. The friction of your shoes on the floor or more commonly on carpeting or a deep rug can build up enough of a charge to make a spark. The answer is to touch some metal object so that the charge discharges before it builds up high enough for sparks. Nylon and silk garments tend to accumulate these static charges. Cotton, which absorbs traces of moisture, isn't as likely to. That's why, in operating rooms, people wear cotton gowns and clothing, and avoid silk or nylon.

The little shocks don't harm you, but are annoying.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is your opinion of birth control pills? Are they accurate, healthy, proven, etc.?—N. K.

They appear to be promising but they have to be taken on schedule. Miss taking them, and there is a "rebound" characteristic which makes pregnancy more likely instead.

Dear Sir: I have three children. The last, a boy, was called a "posterior birth." I had never heard of it, but the doctor said it made the labor twice as long. Will you please explain?—MRS. C. S.

Ordinarily a baby is born head-first, and after the head has emerged, the rest of the birth is relatively easy. However, sometimes the baby turns around. Because of his folded-up position, he isn't born feet-first but buttocks-first, and in that doubled-over position it is much more difficult for him to move from the womb to the world awaiting him outside.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a salad dressing recipe that uses mineral oil to cut calories, but I have heard that daily and frequent use of mineral oil can damage the intestines. Is this true? I use about three tablespoons of the dressing a day.—MRS. R. J. W.

Mineral oil won't damage the intestines. It can, however, interfere with the absorption of some vitamins. I see no harm in such use of mineral oil so long as the user keeps that fact in mind in case of any signs of vitamin deficiency.

Titov Is Anxious To Compare Notes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grinning broadly, Soviet cosmonaut Gherman S. Titov arrived Wednesday for a meeting with President Kennedy and space shuttle talk with American astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.

Nearly mobbed by Soviet admirers at national airport, the 27-year-old Russian, who whirled 17 times around the world last August, read a statement that his country and the United States have a "common cause of outer space exploration."

SOLVE MYSTERIES
In a press conference later, Titov indicated Wednesday he and Glenn may be able to solve some of the mysteries of space by talking over their experiences.

Titov said that there is so

SAW 'FIREFLIES'
Titov was asked particularly about the "fireflies" or pinpoint of light that Glenn reported seeing at sunrise on each orbit.

Titov said he too saw "fireflies," only he called them phosphorescent spots.

Speaking through an interpreter, Titov said he noticed the tiny particles at the cutoff of his engines and again when he fired his retro rockets or braking devices, particularly.

Soviets Back At Talks

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russia Wednesday agreed to resume talks today on the East-West deadlock over a nuclear test-ban treaty in the three-power subcommittee of the 17-nation disarmament conference.

The Soviet move ended days of speculation whether Russia would boycott the Anglo-American-Russian test-ban subcommittee in protest against renewed United States nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

HALF-MEASURES
Soviet chief delegate Valerian Zorin accused the U.S. at the plenary session of being interested only in half-measures as was indicated by the 30-per-cent "across the board" proposal in the first three-year stage of the U.S. plan.

Zorin claimed the percentage reductions might be harmful, as the U.S. plan permitted production of weapons in the first stage, and would provide an opportunity to eliminate obsolescent weapons.

Thus, he said, the U.S. is ready to sacrifice a proportion of its armaments in the first stage to gain intelligence through international control while building up fresh armaments.

WRONG IMPRESSION
U.S. delegate Arthur Dean said he would like to dispel an erroneous impression that the U.S. is insisting that every square inch of Russia has to be inspected before the first cannon is destroyed.

Algiers Counts 96 Slain As Bloodbath Hits Peak

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Ninety-six persons were reported killed and 140 wounded in Algiers Wednesday in a terror wave of gun attacks, bomb blasts and mortar shelling organized by the anti-Moslem Secret Army Organization.

Almost all the victims were Moslems.

It was the highest toll of Moslems in Algiers since the Algerian war cease-fire took effect six weeks ago.

Casualties from violence throughout the country reached 110 dead and 147 wounded, the highest total recorded since the outbreak of the Algerian War in November, 1954.

The worst incident Wednesday was the explosion of a booby-trap bomb among Moslem workers in Algiers' dock area.

According to the latest semi-official count, it killed 62 persons and wounded 110.

A police communiqué said the dock blast was the work of the outlawed Secret Army.

The violence was denounced by the Tunis-based Algerian provisional government of the Moslem rebels as "surpassing all limits of horror." It led to renewed fears among French officials here that Moslems would launch counterattacks.

In an attempt to end the violence, the authorities Wednesday night decided to advance the nightly curfew in Algiers by 3½ hours starting today.

In Oran, the Secret Army holed in western Algeria, another 14 Moslems were reported slain by early Wednesday night in terrorist attacks.

LETTERS to the Editor

To be considered for publication in whole or in part letters must be on subjects of general interest, not more than 200 words in length, and, if signed with a pen-name, must be accompanied by the writer's name and address.

The first 10 countries in total purchases of British exports last year were as follows: United States, $280,502,000; Canada, $221,720,000; Australia, $201,683,000; West Germany, $171,261,000; India, $151,794,000; South Africa, $147,101,000; Sweden, $141,198,000; The Netherlands, $137,613,000; Irish Republic, $133,181,000; New Zealand, $123,962,000.

From this it will be seen that Canada is the second largest market in the world for British exports, and Australia the third, both of them following only a comparatively short distance behind the United States.

The British official figures show that British exports to the Commonwealth last year were far in excess of the total exported to every country in Europe this side of the Iron Curtain, including Turkey, which is partly in Europe and partly in Asia.

This is not written in a partisan spirit, but in the interests of truth. Canadian prestige abroad is not down as some would have us believe but ranks quite high, particularly in the field of foreign affairs.

No Such Stamp Issue

In an item headed "Island Stamps Sold for Small Fortune," it states that an 1865 Vancouver Island five-shilling stamp, on cover, was sold for $525.

The only issues in 1865 were the five-cent rose imperforate and 10-cent blue perforate, and the five-cent rose perforate 14, and 10-cent blue perforate 14.

'No Free Enterprise'

Economy in Morass Douglas Tells Rally

CALGARY (CP) — T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic party, said Tuesday night Canada's economy has lost momentum and is standing still "in a morass of inactivity."

A small group of "corporate elite" has set the prices on most of the goods, he told a meeting which followed nominating conventions for Calgary South and Calgary North constituencies.

"There is no free enterprise in Canada," said Mr. Douglas. "The system we have is neither free or enterprising."

He predicted that 1,000,000 youths leaving school between this year and 1965 will not be able to find jobs. The former CCF premier of Saskatchewan said automation can be blamed for much of the job shortage.

IMPORTANT ISSUE

Mr. Douglas told 1,200 persons attending the meeting that the question of nuclear weapons was one of the most important issues to be decided by Canadian voters in the June 18 election.

"For the first time in man's history we now have the power to destroy ourselves. We could be destroyed by the monster we created."

He said Canada should join Sweden and Japan in opposing nuclear weapons. The "nuclear club" must be kept to four members—the United States, Russia, England and France.

He said the question of peace is "too important to be left to the generals, diplomats and merchants of death who fatten on the profits of war."

The peace crusade will be the greatest single issue to be fought by NDP candidates, said Mr. Douglas.

No Phone Calls

Lazy Enumerators Will Be Dismissed

OTTAWA (CP)—Any of the 67,000 enumerators preparing the voters list for the June 18 election who use the telephone as a short cut in their work will be fired without pay, Chief Electoral Officer Nelson Castonguay said Wednesday.

Mr. Castonguay issued the warning after receiving anonymous phone calls "and being told by some friends" that enumerators in their districts had been blaring. With him was James Byrne, former Liberal member for Kootenay East, who is striving to unseat Progressive Conservative Murray McFarlane.

IMMEDIATE START

Mr. Pearson's statement on the Columbia was partly verbal and partly from a press release. He said he is "pretty certain" that Canada could work out a satisfactory agreement on the Columbia with the United States in a matter of months.

"We'd start at once," Mr. Pearson said the Americans know they got a "good deal" when they signed a 60-year treaty in January last year. It was ratified speedily by the U.S., but Canadian ratification has been delayed pending settlement of a federal-B.C. dispute about financing and disposition of power abutting from American use of Canada-stored water.

ON MERITS

Three storage dams costing $344,000,000 are proposed in Canada.

In principle, a Liberal government would not oppose the sale of either American generated power due Canada or the export of any power, but each case should be judged on its merits.

OPPOSED SALE

Further, the Liberals opposed the sale of this American generated power, or downstream benefits, by making a promise to sell and build storage dams without settling on a price first.

"To promise first and negotiate afterwards is a betrayal of Canadian and B.C. interests," he said.

'WILL CO-OPERATE'

Mr. Pearson said the Americans can't be expected to take the initiative in any treaty re-examination "but they will cooperate with a government that approaches them firmly but sensibly."

He knew that because he had been dealing with them a long time.

Elected Men to Get Leave

VANCOUVER (CP) — MacMillan, Blissett and Powell River Limited will grant leave of absence to employees elected to public office, a spokesman said Wednesday.

The company will not, however, continue pension or sick benefit payments for employees serving in elected office.

Lafarge Cement announced last week it was encouraging employees to participate in the federal election campaign. President James Sinclair, fisheries minister with the last Liberal government promised no loss in seniority and continued pension and sick benefit payments for employees who are elected.

The spokesman for MacMillan Blissett and Powell River said: "This is not a new policy" for the company.

But it was also reiterated that political discussions at lunchtime, collecting money for election purposes or electioneering on company property are out.

CBC Offers TV Time To Party Leaders

OTTAWA (CP) — A CBC spokesman said Wednesday the publicly-owned corporation has offered time on its national TV networks for debates between the four party leaders in the June 18 election campaign. The form of debate would be up to the politicians.

This was the first indication that the CBC stands ready to show Canadian TV viewers something similar to the joint TV appearances of John Kenedy and Richard Nixon in the 1960 U.S. presidential campaign. Last week, Liberal Leader Pearson challenged Prime Minister Diefenbaker to such a debate but the prime minister replied that he was "not interested in providing TV audiences for others."

Since then, the other leaders have entered the fray. T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, said such debates would have to involve all four leaders.

'Aliens Put On Vote List In Toronto'

TORONTO (UPI) — The RCMP last night started an investigation into charges that aliens were illegally placed on a federal riding voting list in Toronto.

They said the charges were made yesterday by Horst Hartmann, 29, to the Toronto Telegram. Hartmann, a German citizen, was employed by the paper as a compositor.

The RCMP were called into the case by chief electoral officer Nelson Castonguay.

Superintendent F. B. Woods-Johnson said two male enumerators in the riding were questioned. "The whole Rose-dale list will be investigated," he said.

New Party Offer Care Plan

OLIVER (CP) — Provincial NDP-CCF leader Robert Strachan said Wednesday night that a comprehensive medical care plan covering every citizen could be brought in immediately in British Columbia.

A New Democratic party government would finance a provincial plan and then request 60 per cent of the total cost from the federal government instead of waiting for Ottawa to move first, he said.

In an address to a party meeting at this interior centre Mr. Strachan said that in any medical plan the patient must be free to choose his doctor and the doctor must have complete medical freedom "with no interference of his right to determine the methods of treatment of his patients."

Are Bennett's Bonds In East and Frisco?

By HARRY YOUNG
Columnist Business Editor

Bamboozled Says City Dealer

It would be putting it mildly to say Premier Bennett has the investment dealers puzzled over his re-affirmation that he has sold all his $25,000,000 Hydro bonds and is selling a further $54,200,000 without dealers' assistance.

"I am completely bamboozled," said one local dealer who says he has sold them all yet they are selling in Vancouver on the open market at a point under the issue price," queried another. "It doesn't make sense."

KANTEN DEALER
One dealer in the east is reported to have taken the majority of the bonds which were not taken up by the banks, trust companies and dealers a week ago. Another rumor is that they have been sold to a financial house in San Francisco, which is willing to take the remaining $54,200,000 as well.

Mr. Bennett declines to elaborate in any way or to give any hint as to how the bonds have been sold, and where the matter rests.

MORE DUBIETY
There will, however, be more dubiety about the way Mr. Bennett can redeem the $40,000,000 six per cent convertible sinking fund debentures of B.C. Electric due Nov. 1, 1961.

Holder of these bonds can at any time until 1959 convert them into the common shares of B.C. Power Corp. and that company out of the payments made to it by the B.C. government, as well as enough cash to meet this commitment.

Mr. Bennett now proposes to redeem the whole issue in the near future at the stipulated call price of $105.70.

ONE OF MATTERS
This is despite the fact that the future of these bonds is one of the matters under litigation in the B.C. courts.

A dealer was asked yesterday what would happen if the holder of these bonds sought to make the conversion as he is entitled to do under the terms of the issue.

"The holder would be entitled to convert each $1,000 bond into 27 common shares of B.C. Power and to receive also in cash $49.50 (representing $18.50 a share which B.C. Power has already distributed in cash to its common shareholders)," he said.

DOES NOT APPEAR
"On the basis of the present market price of B.C. Power shares ($16 1/2) it would not pay the bond holders to make the conversion rather than have the bonds redeemed, but it does not appear that he is so if he desires."

To make it more complicated it would appear that if the conversion privilege is accepted then the money and shares have to be met by B.C. Power Corp., but if not, the redemption money will be paid by the government agency.

COVICHAN ON MOVE
Three thousand dollars' worth of copper concentrates was moved by truck over south Vancouver Island roads from Jordan River to Hatch Point on Sannich Inlet yesterday to mark the start of Covichan Copper's new mining operation.

Patient Is Doing Fine Says 'Doctor' Bennett

By PETER BRUTON

Premier Bennett has taken the pulse and temperature of the B.C. people and economy—and he says the patient is doing just fine.

The "good doctor" returned to his office here yesterday after a two-week "main-streeting" tour of the province.

He said he didn't meet one person who had a nasty word for either the Social Credit government or himself.

DON'T BELIEVE

"They all told me: 'Mr. Premier, we don't believe a thing in those Vancouver papers,'" he claimed.

Premier Bennett said the government had implemented most of the recommendations of the Post-War Rehabilitation Council's report which he helped draft in 1944.

ANOTHER LOOK

It was a blueprint for future development of B.C. but the government of the day never implemented it, he claimed.

"I wanted to take another 10-year look ahead," he said. At the same time, the premier said he felt it was not necessary for another commission.

SPECIAL FAVORS?

A program of future economic development for the province would have been its task.

He lashed out at recent Vancouver newspaper criticism and claimed the newspapers had tried to get special favors from the government in the matter of sales tax on papers and printing presses.

THREE ON BACK

He charged that in the 1960 provincial election Social Credit had to carry the Wenner-Green promoters, the B.C. Electric and the Vancouver Province on its back.

"Thank goodness these things now are off our backs," he said. "We never asked for their support."

Ambulance Field Day Planned

St. John Ambulance Brigade will hold its annual field day at Central Junior High School starting at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Senior competition, which begins at 1:15 p.m., will be officiated by Lieutenant Governor George Pearkes.

Teams from Cumberland, Courtenay, Nanaimo, Chemainus, Ladysmith, Crofton, Vancouver and Victoria will take part in the competition.

Senior men's and ladies' teams will be competing to represent Vancouver Island during the provincial first aid meet.

Criminal Negligence Charged to Woman In City Traffic Death

A Saanich woman was charged yesterday with causing death by criminal negligence. The charge arose from the traffic death April 19 of Mrs. Blossom Smith.

Mrs. Molly D. Carroll, 1711 Cedar Hill Cross Road, did not enter a plea or elect how she

The charge was laid after an accident at Fairfield and Foul Bay Road when Mrs. Smith, 66, of 1502 Regents Place, was thrown from the car in which she was riding.

Mrs. Carroll was released on $500 bail.

Two sailors, Blair Folkard of HMCS Naden and Douglas Thomas Booth of HMCS New Glasgow, were given suspended sentences and released on $250 bonds to be of good behavior for six months.

Folkard was charged with the theft of a tire and wheel rim from a parked car and Booth was charged with possession of the tire and rim, knowing them to have been stolen.

Delphin Adolph Bulmar and Errol Arthur Hurrell, both of HMCS Antigonish, were fined $20 each on charges of being minors in possession of liquor.

"We need your time, and your money, if we are to carry on a successful campaign," he said.

A scheme which would assure elderly people of prepaid ambulance service was advocated by delegate Gus Guillemeester.

"Naturally, an ambulance company cannot operate without money," he said, "but there should be some scheme in force whereby old people would be assured ambulance transportation when they need it—whether they have the cash to pay or not."

VIEWSON SPORT

By Red Smith

Any customers who come to this store for guidance on faith and morals are leaning on a broken reed. Evidently Sonny Liston's qualifications as a professional fighter, or lack of same, constitute a moral issue. The incumbent in this pulpit is not equipped to resolve it with an encyclical.

If the clean-living, pure-thinking members of the New York State Athletic Commission have evidence convincing them beyond a reasonable doubt that Liston still is in evil hands, then perhaps they acted properly in denying him a licence to swat people in the state.

If all that business about Liston buying his freedom from the guys who owned him and going out West with the priest who was trying to teach him decency, if all that was a fraud calculated to deceive men charged with proper conduct of boxing, then he deserves no consideration whatever, least of all the chance at the heavyweight championship which his fists have earned for him.

If the commissioners were guided only by ugly suspicion and unbelief in the redemption of man, then they held the accused guilty until proven innocent. If they helped kick back into the gutter a man who was trying to go square, then they did a disservice to New York, to boxing, to humanity. In such event, they served only those who believe that the way to handle two-time losers is to chase them out in the street to become three-time losers because we don't have enough muggers and hoods to go around.

This Puppy Was Dangerous

For the sake of Melvin Krulwich, Jim Farley, Jr., and Raymond Lee, a guy could almost hope that Liston would go wrong to prove them right. But, of course, a guy wishes no such thing.

Let's try to get our ducks in line. You meet a well-meaning fellow like Jack Nilon, Liston's chief sponsor these days, and he tells you Sonny is just a great big mischievous puppy, formerly a poor mixed-up kid. You don't buy that. The games Liston played in his youth—first degree robbery, assault with intent to kill, breaking heads as a labor goon—are not children's games.

It would be a rather remarkable thing if a guy with such a background turned up in boxing under the aegis of an archbishop. It is somewhat more likely that he would be surrounded by mob guys. (In the sinless climate of today it is very bad thing to be surrounded by mob guys, although it is not easy to be scandalized if you're old enough to remember some of the honored champions who had mob connections.)

So you don't accept the image of Liston as a misguided, but blameless, boy. You take him as a character who was dead wrong and probably vicious, but you cotton to the notion that wrong guys can and sometimes do turn square. You feel there is a sort of duty to encourage wrong guys to turn square.

Theirs Not to Reason Why

Apparently the New York Boxing Commissioners did not feel they had such a duty in Liston's case. Why? Do they know something about Liston's present connections?

Their three-page statement does not suggest that they do. His past record, they said, created a climate of suspicion. They said that in times past he had been associated with characters of dubious social distinction, namely Blinky Palermo of Philadelphia, Frank Mitchell and John Vitale of St. Louis.

They didn't say he was still playing in that league, though their decision clearly implies that they suspect he is. Using the past tense, they said only that Blinky Palermo, now appealing a 15-year sentence for murder, "was a friend." Hell, Blinky is a friend of mine, too; or at least we've been on friendly terms for many years.

Worst of all, having made their decision the commissioners ducked questions, contrary to their custom, of meeting the press and explaining actions on controversial topics. Were they afraid somebody might ask what they had on Liston that the Pennsylvania Commission didn't have when it granted him a licence? If the question had been asked, could they have answered it?

Whether their decision was just or not, their evasion of fair questions was shameful. It invited such irresponsible statements as we had from Douglas Hayden, whose California Commission was not concerned in the affair: "I don't feel Liston has sufficiently rehabilitated himself. Nor has he made too much effort toward eliminating those people with whom he has been associated."

Champion's View

If politicians are going to pop off at a range of 3,000 miles, they should be required to define their terms. What constitutes "sufficient rehabilitation"? Joining a monastery? How much effort toward reform is "too much"?

Floyd Patterson is one authority who does not agree that Liston's five-year and nine-month sentences should be commuted to life imprisonment. A champion in the truest sense, Patterson believes that when a man has done time for an offence, the slate should be wiped clean, just as Floyd's own youthful mistakes have been forgotten by everybody except Floyd himself.

It will be surprising if Patterson, feeling as he does, doesn't go to some other state to give Liston the chance New York has denied him. If that happens, and if Liston wins the title, will the New York Commission still pretend he doesn't exist?

"I wouldn't be surprised tomorrow if he'd go and hold up a bank for spite," Patterson has said. That's the alternative the New York Commission has given Liston.

Moss Shows Steady Gain

LONDON (AP) — Stirling Moss, the British auto racing star who crashed at 100 miles an hour eight days ago, continued his improvement in hospital.

"The patient's slow but steady progress has been maintained over the last 24 hours and his periods of consciousness are increasing in length," a hospital bulletin reported, adding:

"His speech is becoming a little more free but the weakness of the left side of the body remains unchanged."

Real Madrid Loses Cup Final

Teen-Ager Stars for Benfica

AMSTERDAM (AP) — The Benfica soccer team of Lisbon, fighting back after trailing 0-2, defeated Real Madrid 3-3 here tonight to retain the European Cup of Champions.

A crowd of 65,000 in Amsterdam's Olympic Stadium was treated to a dazzling display of goal scoring by the two teams. Real led 3-2 at halftime. Benfica roared back in the second half and Da Silva Eusebio, the 19-year-old star from Mozambique, set them on the winning trail with two goals.

As the game ended Portugal fans swarmed onto the field. They tore off the red shirts of the Benfica players as souvenirs and carried their heroes shoulder high to the touchline.

YOUTH VS. VET

The game developed into a struggle between the star inside forwards of each team—36-year-old Ferenc Puskas of Real and 19-year-old Eusebio of Benfica.

Puskas, former captain of the Hungarian team, cracked home three goals in a dazzling display in the first half.

He got his first in the 18th minute, dashing through the middle on his own on a pass from Argentine-born Alfredo di Stefano.

In the 23rd minute Puskas made it 2-0 for Real with a left-foot drive from 25 yards. "Jose Aguiar scored for Benfica in the 25th minute and nine minutes later Domestiano Cavem shot a goal from 20 yards to wipe out Real's lead.

Gorge Champ

Mrs. Shirley Naysmith defeated Mrs. V. Chappell, 5 and 4. Tuesday to win the ladies' handicap championship at Gorge Vale Golf Club.

Flight winners were Mrs. M. Cooke, Mrs. C. Holland, Mrs. E. Cann, Mrs. G. Pumphrey, Mrs. N. O'Connell, Mrs. M. Fry, Mrs. C. McMillan and Mrs. D. Smith.

Four minutes later Puskas struck again. Weaving his way past three Benfica defenders, he beat goalkeeper Costa Pereira from 25 yards.

In the second half the Real forward line lost its rhythm and Benfica seized control. Inside left Mario Coluna put the Portuguese team on level terms with a 35-yard drive in the 51st minute.

Then it was Eusebio's hour of glory. In the 64th minute he burst through the Real defence with an incredible display of speed fics through two European Cup and was tripped as he got into the penalty area. He took the penalty kick himself and sent of this season.

Benfica into a 4-3 lead. Eusebio crowned his triumph five minutes later by shooting on the turn from the edge of the penalty area.

Real Madrid, which won the trophy for five years running after the competition was started in 1955, showed only flashes of its old brilliance. Without Puskas they would have been in sorry plight.

Liston Predicts Quick Knockout

SOUTH FALLSBURGH, N.Y. — Sonny Liston settled down in his first country club-style training camp Wednesday and predicted he would knock out heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson in three or four rounds.

"I don't care where we fight," said the challenger who will be 29 next Tuesday. "I don't feel bad about New York turning me down, not after other states showed they wanted me. I would just like to fight."

When a writer asked Liston what he thought his biggest problem would be in the Patterson fight, the big fellow grinned. "We have our biggest problem getting a place to fight," he said. "Once he steps between the ropes nobody can stop the ropes."

Nine cities have sent feelers for the September bout says Al Bolan, vice president of Championship Sports, Inc., promoters. The last was Las Vegas which talked of a million dollar guarantee, according to Bolan. However, Bolan said in New York that Chicago still was the number one prospect.

Others under consideration are Baltimore, Seattle, Los Angeles, Washington, Houston and Montreal. Philadelphia, the ninth, has been ruled out by Patterson.

Liston said his plan for the fight was "to cut it short." At first he said only that the fight would end early one way or the other.

When told it was customary to pick a round when making a victory prediction, he said "make it three or four rounds."

NEW YORK (AP) — The baseball season is less than a month old but already there are rumblings of impending managerial changes.

According to the grapevine (whatever that is), two big league managers are on shaky ground while two others have decided to pass the job on to others at the end of the current campaign.

Today's smooth-riding, road-gripping, low-pressure tires wear fastest along the edges.

NEW B.F. GOODRICH SILVERTOWN TIRES

BIG EDGE!

IT PUTS EXTRA RUBBER WHERE THE WEAR IS—ON THE EDGES!

Years ago, tires had to have extra rubber in the tread's centre, where the wear was toughest. But with modern, low-pressure tires, the peak-punishment area is on the edges. Most tire makers still pack rubber dead centre. But BFG concentrates extra rubber on the outside edges of their Silver-town tires. It's THE BIG EDGE... extra rubber where the wear is. Extra safety, extra mileage, extra economy.

And they cost no more than other first-line tires! DOUBLE GUARANTEE! BFG Silvertowns are guaranteed a lifetime for workmanship and materials, guaranteed 24 months against blowouts, cuts, breaks caused by road hazards of normal driving. Ask your BFG dealer about this DOUBLE GUARANTEE.

Another exclusive! NEW TREAD RUBBER! Making the most of new-car suspension, BFG worked with car engineers to develop "soft rubber" tires. They smooth bumps beautifully, they

Deep Drill' Man Returns

By IAN STREET
A Pacific Naval Laboratory scientist has just returned from a month spent at sea with U.S. Project Mohole probing the earth's crust beneath the Pacific.
J. R. Brown, a member of the underwater acoustics section of PNL, worked with scientists of the Scripps Oceanographic Institute in a series of seismic studies of the sea bottom in the vicinity of the Hawaiian Islands.
The expedition concentrated its efforts in the area known as the Hawaiian Arch roughly 120 miles north of the island of Maui.

At that point the earth's crust is relatively thin—roughly six miles, compared with 20 or more miles of crust on the continents—the water is shallow and the weather is good. The site is also near a good port.
All of these qualifications make it a prime candidate for the U.S. choice of a deep drilling site through which it hopes to penetrate the crust and obtain samples of the earth's mantle beneath.

Mr. Brown worked with the American scientists as they explored seismic charges in the sea and charted the progress of sound waves returning through the sea bottom to determine its geological structure.
The method was the same as PNL scientists use when studying under-ice sound propagation in the Arctic in their continuing search for more effective methods of detecting enemy submarines.
Canada is also participating in the international scientific study of the earth's interior known as the Upper Mantle Project. The U.S. Mohole project is part of the world-girdling study.
Over a three-year period, which started in January, Canada will spend $3,000,000 which will include drilling of two 10,000-foot holes at Coppermine in the Northwest Territories and Mount Albert in Gaspé, Que.

Canada stands to profit greatly from the study because it is apparent the day for direct surface mineral exploration is coming to an end. Scientists believe future mineral deposits must be sought beneath the crust in the unknown area called the mantle. Beneath the mantle, lies what scientists call the third principal layer of the earth, the core.

10 Meals In Space Of One

SEATTLE (AP)—A scientist predicts the time will come when a woman can store a 10-meal package of dehydrofrozen freeze-dried food in the shelf space a TV dinner takes now.

Dr. Joseph Stern, research director of the Boeing company's bioastronautics section, said the food preservation system will help solve problems for space flights of less than six months. On longer flights, he said, man will have to grow his own meals.

Pooled Project Municipal Plan

City council plans to ask Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt to pool efforts toward a project to mark Canada's 100th birthday in 1967.
The approach will be made through the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee at its next meeting.
Decision to seek co-ordination of the four municipalities was made at a meeting of city public works committee yesterday when aldermen discussed plans for the 1967 centennial.

Mayor R. B. Wilson told the committee he had been advised that the provincial government was setting up an organization to help municipal committees plan for the centennial.

Training Invaluable General Tells Cadets

Students receiving a private education should be ready to take on additional responsibilities on graduation, Maj. Gen. J. M. Rockingham told members of the University School Cadet Corps during annual inspection yesterday.

IN GOOD SHAPE

"Training you receive here can do you nothing but good," said the general officer commanding Western Command. He added that he hoped some of the cadets would continue their training by enlisting in the regular army or the militia to help keep the army "in the good shape it is in now."

RETREAT CEREMONY

During the inspection cadets went through intricate training and marching manoeuvres for the inspecting officer which included a counter-marching retreat ceremony by the honor guard.

THROWN OPEN

Some 150 parents and invited guests watched the honor guard point rifles skyward and pull the triggers, firing in the stuttering effect of a feu de joie.

Classes in map reading, map gun, signals and radio communication were also thrown open to the inspecting officers and visitors, followed by a hair-raising raid staged by cadets in which the "enemy" were all gunned down while "our side" suffered only minor casualties.

AWARDS PRESENTED

General Rockingham presented awards at the completion of the ceremony to Cadet Sgt. J. C. Mackie, Calgary, Alta. Rich Cup, for highest marksmanship score at Heat's Range; Cadet Capt. R. J. King, Victoria, Goldby Trophy for highest score in the Dominion Canadian Rifle Association team; Cadet Sgt. T. H. B. Yarian, Auburn, Wash. Don Braidwood Cup; Cadet A. L. Montgomery, Victoria, Junior Trophy; and Cadet Lt. D. A. Angus, Victoria, Harvey Memorial Rifle, best shot in school, on year's average.

Number 4 Platoon commanded by Cadet Lt. James Farmer of Port Renfrew won the cup for best platoon.

Souvenir Hunters Strip Old Train

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canadian National Railways' steam locomotive 6023, on display in Assiniboine Park here, is being systematically stripped by souvenir-hunters. Latest in a series of thefts was a 20-pound bronze bell filed free during the weekend.

Firm Defends Price Control

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian General Electric Co. says there is nothing illegal in a scheme which allows CGE to control the price of light bulbs sold through an agent to the Toronto Transit Commission.

Tuesday the TTC asked the combines investigation branch to check suppliers and manufacturers of bulbs who refused to deliver an order.

TTC was refused delivery of $12,000 worth of bulbs after accepting tenders from Wilkinson-Kompass Ltd. and Regent Electric Supply Co. Ltd.

Wilkinson-Kompass said its suppliers, CGE, instructed it not to fill the order at the stated price.

Puzzled Police Hunt Golf Pro

EDMONTON (CP)—City police are intensifying their investigation into the mysterious disappearance of Frank Willey, Edmonton golf professional formerly of Vancouver.

Police said suspicious circumstances surrounded the disappearance which was reported by Mrs. Willey April 20.

Police said bloodstains were found in a house under construction not far from where Willey's abandoned car was found.

Chief Constable M. F. E. Anthony, asked about these rumors of violence circulating in Edmonton, said it seems most strange that a man as well known as Willey could be missing for such a long time without being seen by any of his friends.

"I am forced to conclude he has met with an accident—or something," said the chief.

Reason, Not Rote Is Maths Ruling

VANCOUVER (CP)—A University of B.C. professor says that starting in September, students in the province will learn mathematics by reason instead of rote.

Dr. Harry Stein says new arithmetic courses are designed to give students a real understanding of the principle of mathematics.

"Children will learn by discovering for themselves, rather than being told by the teacher," Stein said. "Mechanical learning will give way to meaningful learning."

King Fisherman

Busy Angler Makes Running Start To Compleat Cup

The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest is off to a bang-up start—as far as heavy fish are concerned.

Frank Baker has made an early start in a bid for the Compleat Angler trophy, which will be awarded to the first person to win Prince Crests in all six categories.

ALMOST CERTAIN

Sunday morning at daybreak he was on the Englishman River and landed an 8.11 steelhead, which will almost certainly win a crest in the river trout division. Then he left the river for Sproat Lake where he landed a 4:15-pound rainbow trout, which undoubtedly assures him of a lake trout crest for April-May fish.

OFTEN PARTNER

Jim Askey, often a fishing partner with Baker, landed a 10:4-pound steelhead in the Englishman Saturday to tie for top spot with Lorne Hugh Smith, who caught a 10:4 steelhead from Holland Creek near Ladysmith.

Phil Drysdale's 28-pound spring salmon from the Breakwater Saturday is the only salmon entry received.

Tyrrell Stars In Fine Opera

By BERT BINNY

A scintillating, delightful performance in the title role by Norman Tyrrell highlighted the opening night of the centennial opera, Gianni Schicchi, at Oak Bay Junior High school last night.

Whatever opportunity Puccini gave to Schicchi Mr. Tyrrell accepted with professional aplomb, a deft touch and rare vitality.

GOOD SUPPORT

But Gianni was well supported, particularly by Eleanor Duff as Zita, Michael Rogers as Rinaldo and Hans Steffen as Simone. Michael Rose sang an excellent Di Nicolo. Erik Kurth's Lauretta was rather disappointing.

The opera was well set, lit and costumed. The pace was also good as was the movement although the bit when Buoso's corpse was removed left something to be desired.

An 18-piece orchestra under director James Gayfer also was satisfactory.

Gianni Schicchi was preceded by Mozart's A-major clarinet concerto with Frank W. Slater as soloist. This, too, was a thoroughly musical performance.

The opera was produced by the Musical Art Society under direction of Audrey Johnson.

PEAKERS PRESENT

Lieutenant-Governor G. R. Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes were present at last night's performance.

Gianni Schicchi goes on again at 8.30 every evening through Saturday. The opening night audience was small, which was a pity. The show merits better attendance.

Five Plead Guilty

Five people pleaded guilty and a sixth was remanded for trial in Sooke court yesterday in the wake of an April 10 break-in and robbery at Gibson's Shopping Centre.

Remanded a week for sentence were Robert Turnbull, 18; Gerald Haldane, 18, and Richard William Heimbecker, 16, who had been transferred from juvenile to open court. All pleaded guilty to charges of breaking, entering and theft.

AND CLOTHING

The three admitted entering the store by removing a pane of glass, and stealing three transistor radios, a record player, 10 cartons of cigarettes and a quantity of clothing.

Stefano Croce of Sooke, 34, pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of stolen goods and was also remanded a week by Magistrate Eugene Murphy for sentence.

PUT THEM IN CAR

Police said he came upon a number of articles of the stolen clothing not far from the store and put them in his car.

Kenneth Wilman, 18, of Glen Lake, admitted possession of one of the stolen radios. Like the others, he was remanded for sentence.

Raymond Peter Sweeney, 18, of Glen Lake, was remanded for plea on charges of breaking, entering and possession of stolen goods.

REGINA (CP)—Doctors from all parts of Saskatchewan closed committee rooms Wednesday and headed for a two-day mass meeting here to study the province's controversial medical care plan, scheduled to start operation July 1.

ELIM CORPS

The plan, consistently opposed by the 804-member Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons, is designed to provide medical care for most of the province's 520,000 residents on a compulsory, prepaid basis.

Only a slim corps remained on duty to provide emergency medical service today and Friday, but college president Dr. R. D. Dalgleish of Saskatoon said closing of doctors' offices is not a protest against the plan.

"There just will be no appointments," he said. The meeting was to provide information and hear discussion of the Medical Care Act and controversial amendments passed at the recent session of the legislature.

Premier Woodrow Lloyd, whose OCF government has been unable to reach agreement with the doctors on the plan's operation, was to address the doctors this morning.

CONTROVERSY SWIRLS

Meanwhile, controversy continued to swirl throughout Saskatchewan over the scheme.

Russ Brown, Saskatchewan industry and information minister, supported the plan in a government-sponsored radio broadcast Tuesday night.

Caterer to Millions Retiring to Victoria

William Parr, catering superintendent of Canadian Pacific Steamships at Montreal who has for years looked after the needs of millions of ocean-going people, is retiring to Victoria to cater to himself.

With his wife he will be leaving Montreal shortly to live at 4380 Vantreight Drive.

Born at Hoylake, Cheshire, Mr. Parr worked for about 10 years at various British golf and country clubs and hotels before joining the CPS in 1927. Since then he has travelled the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian oceans aboard the Empresses of Japan, Asia, France, Canada and Scotland, in peace and war.

Since 1953 he has been in Montreal, in charge of catering supplies in Canada and the United States for the Canadian Pacific fleet of White Empresses and cargo liners.

If You're TIRED ALL THE TIME

Now and then everybody gets a "tired-out" feeling, and may be bothered by backaches. Perhaps nothing seriously wrong, just a temporary condition caused by urinary irritation or bladder discomfort. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help stimulate the kidneys to relieve the condition which may often cause backache and tired feeling. Then you feel better, rest better, work better. Get Dodd's Kidney Pills now. Look for the blue box with the red band at all drug counters. You can depend on Dodd's.

Doctors Close Offices

He said it would not alter a doctor's freedom to diagnose and treat patients as he sees fit. He said the only difference after July 1, will be that the doctor will be free to treat patients regardless of the patients' financial means.

NO RESTRICTIONS

There also would be no restrictions on the free choice or change of doctors, Mr. Brown said. The doctor would be able to send his bills to the patient or directly to the seven-man commission set up to administer the plan. Payment would be routed through the patient or directly to the doctor according to the doctor's wishes.

"The medical care insurance commission does not enter the picture until after you have seen your doctor and after your doctor has treated you," Mr. Brown said.

The doctors' main objection to the plan has been "government control."

Smuggling Case

Court Jails Soldier

OTTAWA (CP)—A general court martial yesterday sentenced Cpl. Gerald Albert West, 33, to 30 days in detention and reduced him to the rank of private for his part in the smuggling of gold and opium in Indochina.

PAY SLICED

Detention in army terms means close custody in an army provost corps prison. Being cut to the rank of private will allow West's basic pay to $134 a month from $187, but he will keep whatever allowances and trades pay he has earned.

West was the first of five soldiers to be tried by court martial here.

OTHER CASE

Today the military court will begin the case of Cpl. Hector Joseph Noel, of the Saskatchewan Signals Troop, who is charged with "conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline."

TWO HOURS

The verdict was read by the court president, Brig. N. H. Ross of Fredericton, after he and the four other members of the court deliberated in a closed room for two hours.

Council Cool To Plan For Precinct

City aldermen yesterday were cool toward a plan to rezone nine blocks in James Bay as a legislative precinct.

Proposed by the city advisory planning commission, the precinct would be within the area bounded by Belleville, Douglas, Michigan and Oswego Streets.

PRESENT ZONING

The plan would limit land within the area to its present zoning—mainly residential.

But when members of city public works committee considered the plan yesterday, they expressed caution and misgivings.

"We may legally do this but morally I think we would be wrong," said Ald. Michael Griffin.

MAKE IT EASIER

"We would be merely depressing the value of property to make it easier for the provincial government to pick it up cheaply."

City manager C. C. Wyatt said he felt the city should not take any action which might lay it open to claims for compensation from owners of property within the area.

FACT PROPOSED

He suggested some agreement might be reached with the provincial government for the senior body to pay any compensation.

The question was referred to the heads of city hall departments for comments.

Seed Soil Parched In Prairies

OTTAWA (CP)—Wide areas of Prairie farm lands are entering the seeding season with "critically low levels" of soil moisture reserves, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

Some large increases in grasshopper infestation on the Prairies also are forecast in the bureau's first 1962 telegraphic report on crop conditions, based on reports from field correspondents received up to Tuesday night.

The report said, however, that with some exceptions surface moisture in the West is adequate to germinate seeded crops and field work should become general in most areas this week. Little or no seeding has been done yet apart from some southern districts of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

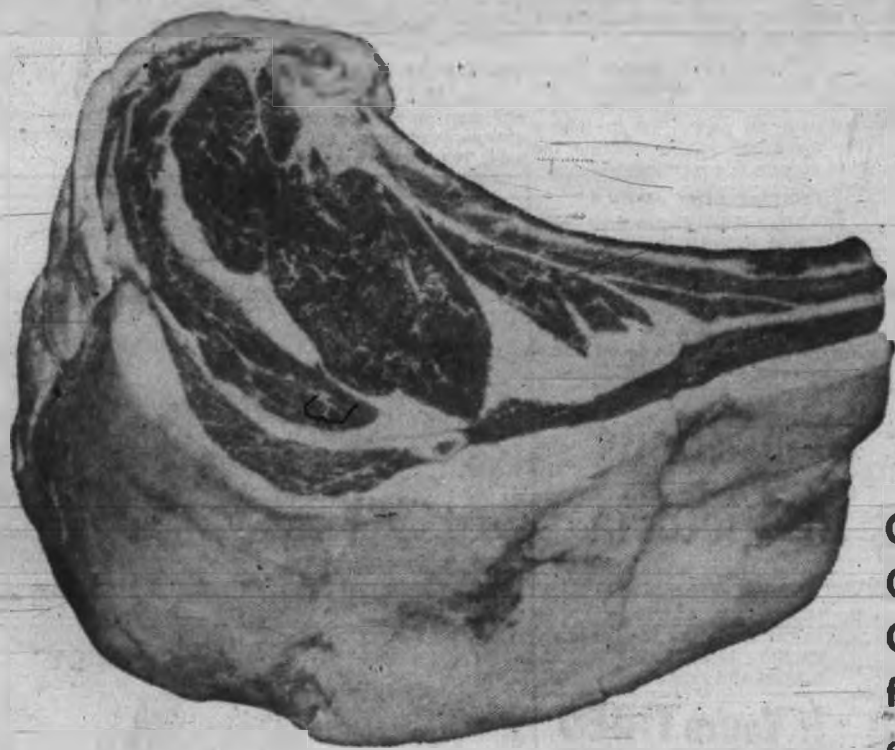

Immigration Showing Slight Drop

OTTAWA (CP)—Immigration to Canada in the first three months of 1962 showed a slight decline from the corresponding period last year, the immigration department said yesterday.

During the period a total of 11,762 newcomers arrived in this country compared with 11,539 a year ago.

British arrivals in the three months were exceeded by both Italian and United States immigrants.

Crunchy Lunch Annoying

VANCOUVER (CP)—City laborer Peter Tennant was convicted Wednesday of administering ground glass in sandwiches with intent to annoy a fellow worker.

In finding him guilty,
Magistrate Oscar Orr said he could not accept Tennant's defence that the glass was so finely ground it could not be considered a noxious substance.

"I think eating ground glass would annoy anybody," said the magistrate.

Court Warns Sons

VANCOUVER (CP) — An uproar in suburban Burnaby police court Wednesday by 64 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors brought contempt of court threats from Magistrate C. C.
Bell.

Five additional men charged since the group was taken to Oakalla April 1 made their first appearance in court to bring the total number of accused to 64.

WARNINGS IGNORED

The group, arrested in a mass pre-dawn raid through the Kootenay area, was charged with conspiring to intimidate the governments of Canada and British Columbia.

Magistrate Bell and police officers several times warned the accused to answer the roll call with a simple "here," but the warnings were ignored.

LEADER RELEASED

Sons of Freedom leader Joe Podovinkoff of Hilliers was released from jail again Wednesday after bail surities totalling $20,000 were posted.

Podovinkoff was remanded another week on a charge of conspiring to intimidate Parliament.

Podovinkoff was originally released from Oakalla prison farm in mid-April after posting $10,000 bail.

In Nelson yesterday, RCMP attributed two recent fires in the Slokan Valley to Doukhorbor terrorism.

Police said an abandoned house at the Doukhobor settlement of Krestova, 15 miles west of Nelson, was gutted by fire.

An abandoned shack was destroyed at Appledale, about 15 miles north of Krestova.

Decision Reserved On Row

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Labor Relations Board reserved decision Wednesday on a major point at issue in the fight between two big unions over the rich prize of the labor force in Sudbury's base metal

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

It will hand down decision later on allegations by the national office of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (I.M.S.W.) that its re-belsious Sudbury Local 508 conspired with the United Steelworkers of America (U.S.A.) to turn the local's 11,500 members over to the steel union.

OTHER ACCUSATIONS

The decision will go part of the way to determining whether the board counts ballots cast recently by the local members as a vote to choose between the unions. Confirmation of the charges could invalidate the vote.

Still to be heard are further
I.M.S.W. accusations of fraud on the part of Steel in the signing of individual Sudbury members during a long and tumultuous raiding period.

Pat Bay Out For Big Jets

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Gordon Wood, vice-president in charge of sales, said that the Pat Bay runway, mountain tops of Salt Spring way is extended to will not be a problem in the way of the suitable for regular use by the Malahat jet in the way of the largest and most modern jet flying jets.

airline, said a high official of The length of the extended Trans-Canada Air Lines during runway will be over 7,500 feet a visit to Victoria yesterday, compared with the normal 9,000 feet usually provided for the jets.

"Certainly under certain wind conditions and in emergencies we could use Pat Bay, but it would be unwise to try to put the airport on a jet schedule," he added.

FINE FOR VANGUARDS

Mr. Wood added that the extra length of runway would be "fine" for the TCA fleet of Vanguards which, with the latest deliveries this month, was now 23 planes.

The TCA man predicted that by 1970 supersonic flights by commercial passenger airlines would be available. He looked for speeds of up to 2,000 miles an hour, making the Atlantic crossing a matter of under two hours.

SPACE ANNihilated

"Already we have annihilated space with our fast jets," added Mr. Wood. "It is now possible to get from Vancouver to any capital in the western hemisphere or Europe and the Orient as well in faster time than it takes a train to get as far as Calgary."

Mr. Wood said that in the Montreal and Toronto areas it was quite the thing for TCA to handle weekend trips for their clients in Europe.

QUITE FEASIBLE

Mr. Wood admitted that the cost was a factor, but for anyone who had an urgent visit to make, the weekend in Europe was quite feasible.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

How much is 633 times 11? To find the answer may take a little time.

You take a piece of paper, put down

633

633

and arrive at the solution.

Sensational Book

With a little more practice, you can learn to apply this quick technique to ALL addition, subtraction, multiplication and division, including such seemingly impossible feats as multiplying 5,132,437, 201 by 452,736,502,785 and arriving with lightning speed at the right answer—2,323,641, 669,144,374,104,785.

You'll find the key to such miracles in a book called The Trachtenberg Speed System of Basic Mathematics (Double Day). It's a sensational book with an even more sensational story behind it.

Jakov Trachtenberg was born in Odessa, Russia, in 1888 and started a brilliant career

The last figure of 633 is 3; put down 3. The sum of the last two figures 633—3 plus 3—is 6; put down 6 to the left of the 3. The sum of the second and third figures of 633 from the right—3 plus 6—is 9; put down 9 to the left of the 6. Then put the first figure of 633—6—in front. Result: 6963.

With a little practice, you can multiply by 11 any figure of any length, writing down the result within seconds.

When the Nazis took over in Germany, he became a refugee once more and went to Vienna, where he became editor of an international scientific periodical.

In 1938, when the Germans marched into Vienna, Trachtenberg was caught and thrown into prison. He managed to escape and went to Yugoslavia where he was caught again. He then spent seven horrible years in concentration camps.

It Really Works

To preserve his sanity, he worked out—without any books, paper, pen or pencil—his system of "shorthand" basic arithmetic. Since 1945, when he finally returned from the living hell of Nazi concentration camps, he has been teaching it at an institute in Zurich, Switzerland.

Does it work? It certainly does. I've gone through the book and can testify that this isn't a phony formula but the real thing. What Trachtenberg did was to pull together all the known shortcuts of mental arithmetic—plus some new ones of his own—and work them into a complete system. If you do a lot of figuring in your job, I can promise you that you'll get your money's worth out of the book and increase your speed and accuracy considerably.

The real question, however, is whether the Trachtenberg system could be used in schools. I think it could and am convinced that it would be a tremendous advantage over what we've got now. Just imagine that children could learn to master arithmetic without ever having to memorize the multiplication tables!

Need I say more?

More Milk Likely

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian agriculture is expected to see increased milk production this year, firm wheat export markets and some feed grain shortages in the West, the agriculture department reported Wednesday.

There were some of the forecasts by the department in a new outlook report—the first general spring forecast it has ever made.

Some of the predictions, however, are based on the assumption that crop yields will be normal—an assumption which remains in doubt on the Prairies where sub-zero moisture readings are the following last year's drought.

Thus it says that with farmers intending to seed four per cent more acreage to wheat, the wheat crop may reach 500,000,000 bushels if yields are average. Firm wheat markets are in prospect and wheat and flour exports "will likely equal or exceed last season's total of 253,000,000 bushels."

A decline in durum wheat prices is seen likely. Feed grain supplies in Eastern Canada are reported ample for spring and summer needs, augmented by imports of United States grain.

Oats and barley supplies would be at low levels by the end of July and average yields on the intended acreages of those crops "would no more than meet requirements." Prices would remain strong through summer and fall.

Cinder Critic's Call:

Forget Firms And Help Smoke Victims

It's time city hall stopped considering smoke producers and started considering citizens who suffer from smoke and cinder fallout, Harold Gregson, 474 Burnside Road, said yesterday.

"It is nine months since the new smoke bylaw was adopted by city council and it appears to me not all smoke producing plants are meeting the requirements of the bylaw," he said.

ENOUGH TIME
"It is time we started prosecuting the offenders—they have had enough time to make any necessary alterations to their plants to come within the terms of the bylaw."

Mr. Gregson, a strong critic of the smoke situation in Victoria, is a member of city council's smoke advisory committee.

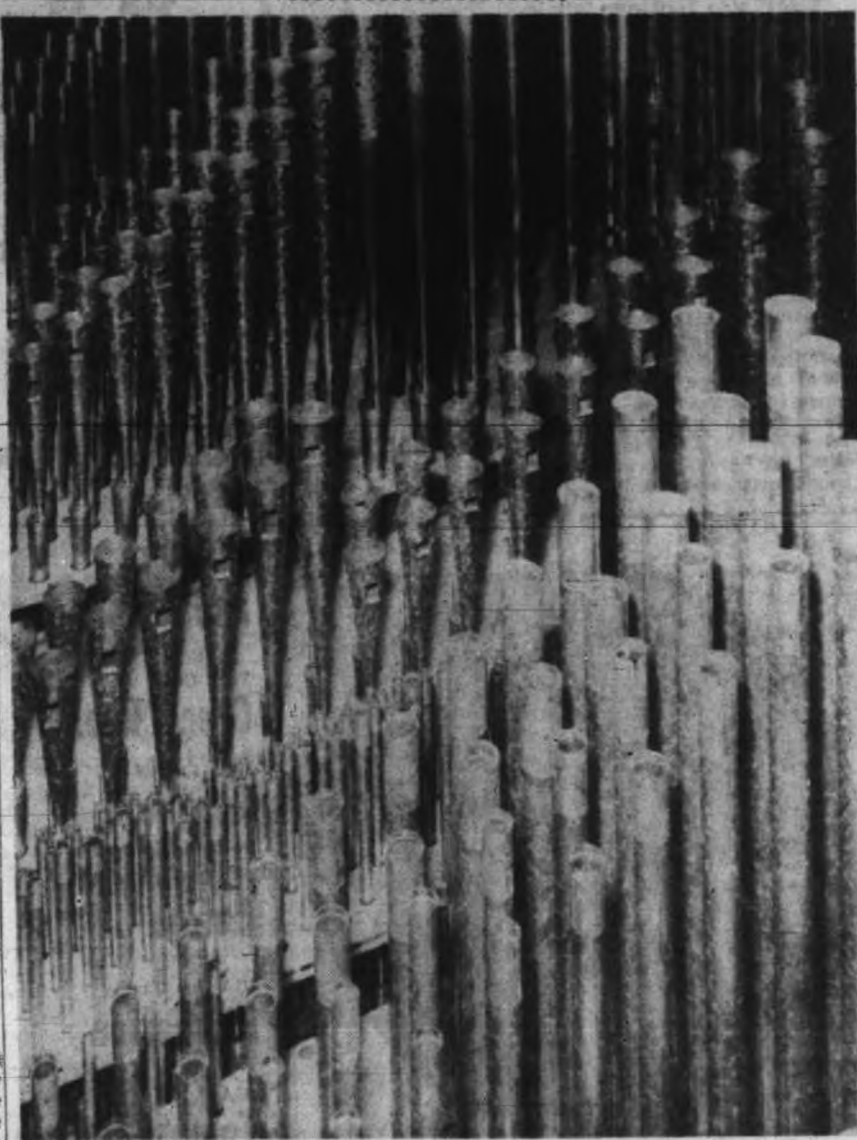

OPEN TO CONSIDER

Mr. Gregson called for appointment of a full-time smoke inspector for Victoria to police the bylaw. Present inspector Thomas Walker works part-time.

VISUAL CHECK
"I still feel it is necessary to have a full-time inspector to keep a visual check on the situation at different times of the night and day."

Mr. Gregson complained four weeks have passed since he suggested a meeting of the smoke committee should be held and nothing has been done.

ABOUT MONTH AGO
Chairman of the committee, Ald. Geoffrey Edgell, offered to call a meeting if requested by Mr. Gregson about a month ago when Mr. Gregson last complained about the smoke problem.

Big Tuning Job

Pipes, 3,500 of them, are now being tuned for the first recital of the $60,000 new organ in St. John's Anglican Church. Supervising installation of instrument, reputed to be one of finest of its kind in North America, is Hugo Spilker of Victoria. (Peter Chapman photo.)

Muscleman Sought

City police are seeking a husky thief who "lifted" a $25 set of barbells from a Pandora Avenue garage late Tuesday afternoon.

David Williams, 1286 Pandora, reported the theft to police yesterday. The barbells are five feet long and weigh 60 pounds.

Veteran Builder Predicts:

Chinatown Will Yield To Business Centre

By JACK FRY

Victoria's Chinatown district, now fast becoming a slum area, will be the bustling new business centre of the city 50 years from now, a prominent building contractor said here yesterday.

The prediction was made by 82-year-old Walter Luney, who was honored during the 50th anniversary dinner of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange as one of the original founders and the only original member alive today.

CHANGED A LOT

Mr. Luney, who came here in 1885 from Toronto, retired four years ago as manager of Luney Bros. and Hamilton Ltd.

Victoria has changed a lot since the building exchange was founded here on May 26, 1912, and it's going to change a lot more in the next 50 years, he told a reporter shortly before last night's dinner.

NEEDS CLEANING

"It certainly has changed, and I've made a lot of changes since I came here," said Mr. Luney. He explained there's hardly a street where he has not constructed at least one building.

"During the next 50 years, Victoria is going to double its population. Chinatown needs cleaning out. The buildings want tearing down and to be rebuilt into modern business blocks," he said.

WILL MOVE IN

"I think business will move in there and that district between Fisgard and Johnson to the waterfront will some day be the business centre of Victoria."

Mr. Luney envisioned a development of office buildings and stores four or five storeys high for that part of town.

He said there is no other direction for the city to expand, that this area is "fast becoming a slum" and that it is "the only district open for business."

Special Gavel Used

City Building Outlook:

No Labor Trouble

There will be no labor unrest in Victoria construction at least until the spring of 1964, a leader in the building industry here said last night.

George Farmer, president of Farmer Construction Ltd., made the forecast in his report as outgoing president of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange.

PRESIDENT CHOSEN

New president elected during yesterday's annual meeting at the Empress Hotel is Douglas Hunter, 38, a partner in the contracting firm of E. J. Hunter and Sons.

"With a three-year labor agreement already signed we will have stability with no labor unrest until the spring of 1964," said Mr. Farmer. In this regard, he praised union leaders for "their co-operation and friendly attitude to employers."

He said the construction picture for 1962 "looks very bright with house building, apartments and schools leading the way."

Birthday Holiday Talk Today

Whether the city will declare a holiday Aug. 2, its 100th birthday, will be discussed at a meeting of city finance committee this morning.

Victoria Chamber of Commerce, representing city merchants, had proposed a holiday because of disruption which would be caused to the tourist trade.

But some members of finance committee still feel it would be fitting to declare a public holiday on the city's 100th birthday.

"Across Canada and in the northwest, construction contract awards have shown a stronger increase during January and February of this year than in any similar period in 1961."

"This trend is reflected in Victoria and the indications are all phases of construction are on the increase," he said.

H. R. Montgomery of Montreal, president of the Canadian Construction Association, endorsed the bid depository system which was started last month by the Victoria Building Industries Exchange, one of 64 affiliates of the CCA.

STANDARD SOUGHT

Mr. Montgomery said he is looking for a national standard for bid depository systems which would be acceptable by the federal government.

"Bid peddling" is prevented by this new system in which sub-contractors submit their bids in sealed envelopes at a stated closing time.

Mr. Farmer said there "has been a little trouble in the past" where sealed bids apparently had been opened prematurely and the information passed along to competitors. New vice-president of the 135-member Building Industries Exchange is George Langdon, owner-manager of Langdon Electric.

Directors named for a one-year period were William Dillabough, William Hamilton, George Wheaton, Ken Oliver, Gilbert Brown, Thomas Mawson, Desmond Hourigan, Clifford Messerschmidt, Robert Godtel, Stanley Clark, Thomas Duncan, George Birnie, William Pomeroy, Charles Bartle, Graham Hunter and C. Laughnane.

Oldtime Saloon To Be Dry

Saanich will set up an old-fashioned bar for its big birthday party Tuesday in honor of Victoria's centenary.

Main difference between the "Star and Garter" saloon and a similarly named one which existed in 1861 on Government Street is that this one will be "dry," said a Saanich official organizing the festivities.

Customers who purchase soft drinks will be entertained by a honky-tonk piano and Can-Can dancers, he said.

There will also be tug-of-war, hole-in-one and gold claim staking contests.

Festivities will begin shortly after 8 p.m. with the arrival of Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

You Must Be Danish

Does Anybody Want Meeting with Borge?

Danish-born residents of Greater Victoria will be given a chance to meet world-famous pianist-humorist Victor Borge, who performs in Esquimalt Sports Centre May 14.

Mr. Borge is scheduled to arrive here May 13 and leave May 15.

People born in Denmark who would like to meet the pianist are asked to telephone the Victoria Symphony Society office, where arrangements will be made.

Mr. Borge also may make a personal appearance at the Jaycee Exhibition which opens May 14 if the Jaycees are interested, said a symphony society official.

Eric Charman, fair director, who earlier said it would be ridiculous having two major attractions here on the same night, said he had passed along the Symphony offer to his entertainment agent.

He said Mr. Borge would be welcome to attend and "anyone can come to the fair if he buys a ticket—the more the merrier."

Tickets for Mr. Borge's May 14 appearance may be obtained from the Symphony box office at Eaton's store.

40 Drivers Sign For City Roadshow

Some 40 drivers have signed for the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce-sponsored teenage roadshow to be held at Esquimalt Sports Centre at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Entrants will be competing for the chance to represent Victoria in the provincial roadshow in June.

Liner Here Friday

The 24,000-ton P & O-Orient liner Chusan will stop briefly off Victoria at noon Friday to pick up pilot, customs and immigration officials before proceeding to Vancouver.

French Hide Smut

Off-Color Magazines Out of Sight

By TED PULFORD

Victoria parents, preoccupied with the display of off-color magazines in local stores, might well take a hint from those masters of tact in such matters—the French.

French consul-general Robert Francois Picard, in the city yesterday to open an exhibition of French periodicals in the public library, explained how France keeps her newsstands free of smut.

"Ours, you see, is a country that is most tolerant of the printed word. We feel adults have the right to read anything they like—even if it is a little risqué."

If sale of this type of magazine is allowed, however, display on the counters is not.

"We feel the grown-up has a right to choose his reading for himself—but these magazines and books should not be displayed on the stands where our younger people can see them."

As a result, Parisian equivalents of the girls' magazine are stored carefully out of the sight of youthful eyes.

If a customer comes in and whispers the name of his favorite publication to the news agent, the book is rolled up and handed to him.

If the would-be purchaser is under 18, however, he's chased out the door.

"An extremely expedient system," smiled M. Picard. "Thus everyone is happy and our young people are not corrupted."

Industry generally has enjoyed an era of unprecedented prosperity in the years since the Second World War.

Each year, 200,000,000 books pour from the nation's presses. Of these, 30,000,000 are exported.

Some 500 companies are active in the publishing field.

The exhibition of French periodicals opened by M. Picard contains more than 360 different magazines, newspapers, journals and quarto-sized reviews.

Subjects range all the way from mechanical engineering to ballet dancing.

The exhibition will be open to the public on the second floor of the library for the next week.

Police Biggest Item In Rest of City Budget

Only one-quarter of the city's record $10,261,150 budget remains to be considered by city council in its final budget-paring session Friday.

Still to be cut are budgets for city police, $721,710; police court, $25,270; juvenile detention home, $12,942; juvenile and family court, $28,545; metropolitan health board, $208,645; Victoria Public Library, $242,480; debt charges, $1,018,700, and sundries, $175,885.

Special expenditures totaling $346,786 will also come under scrutiny.

In two long meetings Tuesday, aldermen chopped their way through $7,580,186 of the budget.

With a total of only $2,680,964 left uncut in the budget, it is likely aldermen will go back over some of the items dealt with Tuesday to prune more if possible.

Liberal Scores Net Gain By Skating Around Issue

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE: Liberal leader Lester Pearson went down to the Maritimes last week for some election campaigning.

At the airport he met a friend who said: "Mike, if you really want to win votes down here, you've got to pledge CBC hockey games will be telecast right from the start of the first period."

Mr. Pearson laughed at the joke.

A few hours later, during a speech, he received a fair amount of applause as he hammered away at the issues of the day.

And, in passing, he mentioned Toronto Maple Leaf star Red Kelly would be a Liberal candidate.

The roof nearly fell in as the audience shouted their applause. Mr. Pearson knew a good thing when he saw one.

"And I'd just like to say," he hurriedly continued, "that, although I don't know quite what we can do about it, we will try to get the CBC to telecast those hockey games right from the first period."

The people down there are still cheering.

HEARD IN PASSING: A sound truck, driving around city streets Tuesday, kept on advertising an affair at Memorial Arena Saturday "in aid of Cerebral Palsy."

RANDOM HARVEST: When Dr. John Davis was nominated Liberal candidate in the Const. Caplan riding, many people in the party felt he lacked the "common touch" and the necessary ability to win the support of voters.

So who's in the lead in providing a razzle-dazzle campaign in Vancouver? Dr. Davis, of course. . . .

Bert McPhillips, leaves no stone unturned in his bid to win votes for the Conservatives. . . .

Spy reports Bert was only too happy to give up his bus seat to a lady passenger during a trip to Vancouver the other day. . . . Overheard at Tuesday's Liberal rally when Esquimalt-Saanich candidate David Gross was speaking: "He'd look much better if he wore his uniform!" David was an RCN captain.

REDUCED TO CLEAR: The plea printed here the other day for the key plaque for the Causeway embankment's "Parade of Ships" met with a speedy response. . . .

Fatal fact: During 1960, the last year for which figures are available, 23,181 Canadians died of cancer. . . .

Newest sign on the gates of Government House states children under the age of 12 will no longer be permitted in the grounds unless accompanied by adults. . . .

Lieutenant-Governor George R. Pearkes will have to change that, at least next Halloween.

Girls of St. Matthias Church junior auxiliary seen at one of their weekly work bees, will be hostesses to Victoria Deaneary area rally to be held at the church on Saturday, May 5. Close to 300 girls from 16 groups are expected. Rev. Angus Cameron of Lundavra will conduct a service at 10.45 a.m. for the children who range in age from seven years to 12. Theme of the rally is, "The Lord is Risen." There will be a day-long program.—(Robin Clarke photo.)

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Most girls who write to you want to know how to keep the boys "in line." Well, if my boy friend doesn't get OUT of line pretty soon—at least enough to give me a goodnight kiss I may have to stop seeing him.

I've been dating L.B. for seven months. We are both in our middle 20s and college graduates. We share the same cultural interests, the same religion, and we enjoy each other's company tremendously. Everything is perfect except he has not even held my hand.

For the first several weeks I was pleased at his restraint. Then something happened which made me uneasy. In church last Sunday L.B. was holding both prayer books. I reached over to get my book and my hand accidentally touched his. He must have thought I was trying to hold hands with him. He jumped six inches. The prayer books went kerplop on the floor and everyone turned to look at us.

What's with this guy any-how? Help me, please.—CANT GET A PULSE.

Dear Ann: It's L.B. who needs help, not you. A man in his middle 20s who dates a girl for seven months and jumps at the touch of her hand is no red-hot candidate for marriage.

If the relationship hasn't produced ample voltage to spark a goodnight kiss after all these months of courtship, tell him goodbye—and point him in the direction of a psychiatrist.

Dear Ann: I'm a 17-year-old high school boy. My parents are in good shape financially. They both work and we have no big money worries. I've had odd jobs after school and on Saturdays since I was 13. I have painted, scrubbed, mowed, shovelled, sat—almost everything you can think of. The money I earned bought my clothes, school supplies, gifts, and I always saved something. I was never given an allowance.

Now I make $56 a week at a 20-hour job. My aunt and uncle have invited me on a three-week trip with them in June. My share of the expenses will be $50. My dad says if I'm away from my job for three weeks I must figure in the loss of salary which will be another $168. He says $218 is too much to spend on a vacation.

I want to go very badly. All this talk about money is making me nervous. Should I go?—DAN.

Dear Dan: You sound like a hard-working, responsible guy who deserves a vacation. Go and have a good time.

Money for money's sake means nothing. If you can't enjoy the fruits of your labor, life is no fun at all, sort.

Dear Ann Landers: My daughter-in-law has redecorated her home at considerable expense. In a formal living room she has placed framed pictures of her family on end tables and other pieces of furniture. These pictures seem

Finally Finds His Girl

MONTREAL (CP)—Go after a frantic three-month search of Montreal, Mexican Trade Commissioner Alberto C. Fernandez finally found his girl.

She reads, writes, speaks and takes dictation in Spanish, French and English, and her name, oddly enough, is Kathleen Williamson.

How did a girl with such a Gaelic-sounding name become so proficient in French and Spanish? Simple, really. Born in Cuba of Scottish parents, Kathleen learned Spanish from playmates and French in school.

She later came to Montreal to attend McGill University, and graduated in 1957 with a BA. She remained in the city, took up shorthand, and was working in the export department of a textile firm when Mr. Fernandez heard about her from friends.

As Mexico's first trade commissioner to Canada, Mr. Fernandez was desperately in need of a secretary who was equally as fluent in the language of his own country as in the two official languages of this one.

He had spent three months calling various employment agencies and advertising on his own by the time he heard about Miss Williamson.

Wooded and won, she now has only one problem: "Sometimes I find I've forgotten the English word for some things."

Officers and members of the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, IODE, are holding their 50th birthday tea on Friday, May 4, at 2.30 p.m., in the Loughheed Banquet Hall, 1406 Douglas Street.

Chloroform Is Bad Form

By J. T. JONES

If you lived in Victoria a century ago, you ran the risk of waking up some morning with a groggy feeling, a taste of chloroform in your mouth, and all your money gone.

The method was simple if dangerous. The burglar sneaked into the bedroom, wet a cloth with the anaesthetic and held it over the victim's face until he thought he was well stupefied then went to work rifling the house. Some victims were still drowsy several days afterward. Luckily, none died.

Chloroform robberies had been in vogue in other places, observed The Daily British Colonist, but after the law clamped down on sale of chloroform, and imposed life sentences on illegal users, the practice died out. Now it was being revived here.

Two or three such burglaries had been committed, one of them in a Johnson Street rooming house where a man was chloroformed and robbed of $360.

"With scoundrels in our midst ready to perpetrate such villainy," snapped the Colonist, "every citizen's life, health or property is in danger, and some immediate action is required."

As far as the records of the year 1922 show, the scoundrels weren't caught.

When some wrong-doer or other appeared before the magistrate in those days, he

Sorokin Suit Faces Defeat

VANCOUVER (CP)—Stefan Sorokin, spiritual leader of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, faces the prospect of having his libel suit against the Trail Times dismissed.

Sorokin failed to show Tuesday at Vancouver court house for further examination for discovery under a court order. He faces arrest if he returns from Uruguay.

1862—Birth of a City

was apt to get brutally frank treatment in the press.

Chas. Smith, a faithful subject of King Cotton, got drunk on May Day and went through Yates Street hurrahing for Jeff Davis and making himself otherwise very disagreeable. He was arrested and fined six shillings. . . . Michael O'Connor, a 'rum looking cove' with the bark off his nose, stealing a coat and pawning it for a bottle of tangle leg, pleaded guilty and was sent to prison for one month. . . .

Across the continent, the Confederate States had just

Centennial Edition

Tales of Greats Are Fascinating

Victoria's history has produced some notable public personages, and these personages contributed in colorful fashion to the record of their times. . . . particularly in politics—civil, provincial and federal.

In The Daily Colonist's centennial edition, which will be delivered to subscribers on May 23 and will be available for mailing in special wrappers to friends and relatives around the world, C. Norman Senior, former member of the legislative press gallery in Victoria and a Canadian diplomat in later years, contributes recollections of some of these dominating personalities.

MIRTH, MAYHEM

He knew intimately people like Sir Richard McBride, the controversial Joseph Martin, G. C. "Corry" McGeer, the radical Hawthornthwaite, the ill-starred Brewster, Tolmie, Pattullo, Hart and many others. And his recollections of debates in which these men caused mirth and sometimes had a disastrous setback, when Admiral Farragut ran his Union Gulf Squadron past the forts of the lower Mississippi and occupied an undefended New Orleans, in the most crucial action of early 1862.

Back in British Columbia, a monster grizzly bear was shot on the Harrison-Lillooet trail, and thereby hung several tales, one of them very tall.

The bear, largest ever killed by white men on the coast up to that time, led hunters on a five-day chase during which he absorbed 20 rifle bullets.

After the apparition was gone into the brush, the hunters looked behind the log and saw "nothing more nor less than the grizzly's hide with claws and tail attached, smoking hot, lying on the ground. The grizzly himself had vanished."

The bear, said Q.T.C. Ex., had simply shed his hide and sneaked off under cover of the resulting steam.

Unfortunately for the yarn, the hide had 20 bullet holes in it.

Cecil Clark, a man with a specialist's familiarity with stories of the early days, introduces the first mayor of Victoria, the big and boisterous Tom Harris.

OLD HOMES

Vivienne Chadwick discovers some old-timers whose stories make bright reading; and Agnes Carne Tate and Ginnie Beardsley tell tales of some of Victoria's old homes.

Staff members, of course, have made a large and important contribution to the pages of this special edition, which will provide Victorians with a valuable piece of historical documentation and, as well as entertainment, will give them an exciting souvenir of their city's centenary.

The pursuers reported many narrow escapes in the snowy Lillooet mountains before their quarry was brought down.

The skin was sold to a Mr. Ballou for $25, and he sent it on to Victoria. A large crowd gathered at the dock when it was due to arrive aboard the Caledonia—but it didn't come.

It was two weeks before it did get here, to be displayed at Wells, Fargo. From nose to tail it measured eight feet, from side to side, five feet. "Its later owner," said the Colonist, "must have been a perfect monster, larger than an ox."

One letter to the Colonist denied that the bear had been killed at all.

What happened, declared Q.T.C. Ex., was that the bear was taken by surprise and tumbled behind a log, from which soon rose a thick cloud of vapor, obscuring the scene completely.

The vapor began to move, "like a portable two-storey frame house on fire, with the smoke pouring out of the doors, windows and crevices of the walls."

After the apparition was gone into the brush, the hunters looked behind the log and saw "nothing more nor less than the grizzly's hide with claws and tail attached, smoking hot, lying on the ground. The grizzly himself had vanished."

The bear, said Q.T.C. Ex., had simply shed his hide and sneaked off under cover of the resulting steam.

Dairy Marks 50th Year With Dinner for 200

A city dairy firm celebrated its golden anniversary with a dinner for more than 200 employees at the Empress Hotel this week.

Among those presented with awards during the Northwestern Creamery dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Allan Brian, parents of Sue Ann, the city's first baby of the 1922 centennial year and the first baby born during the company's anniversary year.

Divorce 'Eye' Jailed

OTTAWA (CP)—Charles Charron, 33-year-old Montreal private detective, was sentenced yesterday to five years in penitentiary for giving perjured evidence before a Senate subcommittee.

Charron was convicted of giving false evidence by stating he had found Jacques Ledue, 53, and Anna Guitier in a Quebec City motel cabin Aug. 20. Both Mrs. Yvette Ledue, 34, of Montreal—who applied for and was granted a divorce—and her former husband have remarried.

The First Step Toward Faith

Isn't it hypocrisy to pray when you don't believe? A prominent minister says "No" in the May Reader's Digest. He tells how faith—like science—begins with experiment. "Try it," he says and explains why even if you feel like shaking your fist in God's face, talking to Him will give you added strength. Get your May Reader's Digest today—27 enlightening, entertaining and absorbing articles of lasting interest.

No Awards for Orbit, White House Tour

Emmy Skips Biggest Stars

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The U.S. Television Academy announced its 14th annual nominations Tuesday and they didn't include the top two stars of the 1961-62 season — Lt. Col. John Glenn and Mrs. John Kennedy.

Most observers agree that Glenn's orbital flight and Mrs. Kennedy's tour of the White House were the biggest attractions of the television season. The academy removed both events from Emmy balloting because of co-operative coverage by the three networks.

The Emmy awards will be announced May 22. The nominations saw the victory of Ben Casey over Dr.

JACQUELINE KENNEDY

JOHN GLENN

Kildare in the battle of television's medicals. Vincent Edwards was named among contenders for best series actors while Richard Chamberlain was not.

Others in the race: Paul Burke, Naked City; Jackie Cooper, Hennessey; George Maharis, Route 66; E. G. Marshall, The Defenders.

Ben Casey also was nominated for outstanding dramatic program, along with The Defenders, The Dick Powell Show, Naked City, People Need People and Victoria Regina.

HEART TO HEART TALKS ARE FOR PRIVATE EARS ALONE

Once upon a telephone there was a handsome young man in love with a very lovely girl. Because there could never again be another girl like her, he gave her a diamond ring. And because, after that, the two of them had so much to talk about, her understanding parents gave her a beautiful colored telephone for heart-to-heart talks in her very own room. Wouldn't it be exciting to have a separate phone installed in YOUR room - a phone as feminine as your perfume, in the color you love best?

Choose from nine lovely decorator colors - including camellia pink, forget-me-not blue, sunlight yellow and gardenia white.

Expo Plea

B.C. Asks Facts

Officials of the Expo-Lodging organization have been asked to back up their appeal for provincial funds to meet operating costs with facts and figures on the operation of the organization.

A delegation to Recreation Minister Westwood this week was asked to prepare a complete breakdown on the operations of Expo-Lodging.

The group, led by Ralph Baker, chairman of the executive committee of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce, reported they had a "fair hearing" from the minister. Mr. Westwood said later he could not commit himself or the government to any promise of aid until the report was prepared.

READY NEXT WEEK

John Wallace, vice-president of the Victoria chamber, said the report would probably be ready for presentation by early next week.

The delegation was prompted by an emergency meeting of the B.C. Chamber in Vancouver last week. Officials fear the Expo-Lodging offices set up in various locations throughout the province to handle tourist accommodation may have to close unless extra operating funds are found.

IN SYMPATHY

Mr. Westwood said he was "in sympathy" with the aims of the group, but before he could act, he would have to have a complete report.

"I asked for a complete breakdown on everything that has been done to date; everything that has been spent; the support received and the amount of money they need to continue. I will have to know who it (the Expo-Lodging services) applies to, whether there is any discrimination and things of that nature," said the minister.

Harbor Charter Fleet Would Be Boon to City

An application for permission to use the Inner Harbor floats as a base for a charter fishing boat business catering to sports fishermen has stimulated efforts to develop a fleet of charter boats.

"This is an activity of the order desperately needed by Victoria in order to keep visitors here," city engineer James Garnett told public works committee.

The committee was discussing an application by G. F. Harley, 620 Seaford, for permission to operate a charter fishing boat business from the Inner Harbor. Mr. Garnett was asked to meet with Victoria Chamber of Commerce officials and report back to the next meeting of the committee.

Requests Roll In

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Requests are coming in by the truckload for seeds of the new Plus X hybrid zinnia—the third in this year's Colonist free seed offers—which pleases me no end, for I don't know when I have been so enthusiastic over a new flower. If you haven't applied for your free seeds yet, there isn't any trick to it at all—just write me a letter asking for them, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope. Or if you don't feel like writing a letter, you can request your free seeds on the order form at the foot of this column.

Zinnias are confirmed sun-worshippers and will revel in the hottest, driest, most sun-baked position in your garden. A minimum of six hours of sunshine per day is essential, and in practice a site on the south or southwest side of the house, unshaded by trees, is your best bet.

As you would expect from a plant native to Mexico, the zinnia has a preference for a sandy or gritty loam soil, well drained but with enough humus in it to maintain a reasonable amount of moisture in it during our summer dry spells. In heavy clay soil, it pays to dig in plenty of coarse sand or grit, or even vermiculite, to create the desired texture.

They don't need much in the way of manure, for they tend to go all fat and lazy if handed their living on a platter, producing lots of lush foliage but not much in the way of flowers. They bloom much more freely in rather poorish soil where they have to forge for their supper, making a wide-spread and ramifying root system. They like a bit of peat moss in the soil, though, as it gives the fine, fibrous roots something to cling to, while the peat acts as a sponge, holding moisture within reach of the roots.

The zinnia is a unique flower, too, in that it seems to perform better when the seeds are simply shoved in the ground where they are to bloom than when they are babied along and given the coldframe treatment with lots of loving and nursing care.

How do you sow them? Just dig a little damp peat moss into a sunny corner of your garden, rake in a sprinkle of fertilizer, make a hole with your finger, drop in a seed and jump back fast! Sow the seeds very shallowly, never more than half an inch deep, for while it takes a proper stumblebum to fall with zinnias, it can be done if you insist on burying the seeds too deeply into the ground. The Plus X zinnias will make rather bushy plants, standing 2 to 2½ feet tall and with an 18-inch spread, so space your seeds out accordingly.

While such a simple sowing will do the trick, there are a couple of refinements in technique which, while not strictly necessary, will make for quicker growth and better plants and flowers.

One of these is to make a special little planting site for each seed, in much the same way as you would for tomato or cucumber plants. Take out a hole six inches deep with your hand trowel, dump in a handful of soggy wet peat moss, cover with soil and make firm, and sow your single seed in the usual way, half an inch deep, immediately above the buried peat moss. The idea here is borrowed from the tomato grower's stunt of providing a never-ending source of moisture from below the roots.

The other idea is to cover each seed with an up-ended jam jar as soon as sown. This is not so much to provide warmth, for the seed should be quite cozy tucked away in its sandy soil, but to create a steamy, humid atmosphere in the soil surrounding the seed, thereby bringing about rapid germination. The jam jars should come off as soon as the seedlings emerge, otherwise the tiny plants could be cooked in the hot sun.

Mother Fears 'Mamma' Cry

PARIS—As we have reported many times, the Parc Monceau, where our children are forced to play, is one of the fanciest playpens in the Western world. Only the children of the best families of France are seen in the park, and the rules are so strict that jumping, running, roller-skating, and kicking sand could mean immediate arrest and military court martial.

In such a park you're bound to find far more governesses than mothers taking care of the children. In truth, very few mothers can be found in the park, and for this reason a friend of ours has gotten herself into a situation she can't get out of.

This is what happened. The lady, a young mother of a year-and-a-half-old boy, went to the Parc Monceau and found herself sitting near the sand pile in the midst of a group of governesses. Since so few mothers show up at the Parc Monceau in person, the other nurses assumed our friend was also a governess and treated her as such.

Our friend, too embarrassed to admit she couldn't afford a nurse for her child, pretended she was the child's nurse and pretty soon everyone became quite friendly.

After inquiring how much money she made, the other governesses asked her how her employees treated her.

Our friend revealed that she was paid a very low salary, and her employees were tyrants.

"Does she have any lovers?" one of the nannies asked.

"All the time," our friend said. "That's why she sends me to the park with the child."

"It's the same with me," one of the other nannies said.

"Does the husband give you any trouble?" another one wanted to know.

"All the time," our friend said. "He's constantly trying to get into my bedroom."

"He would, the swine," a nurse said. "The trouble is you're too young and pretty."

"Why don't you leave?" another one inquired.

"What's the difference?" our friend said. "They're all alike."

The nurses all agreed it was so. "Who does the cooking?" one of them asked.

"I do," the friend replied. "Don't they have a cook?" a governess asked in shocked tones.

"Yes, but she refuses to cook for me or the child."

"Our cook is the same way," a nurse said. "They think they own the house."

Every day our friend went to the park and joined the governesses. It was much more fun than sitting alone, and she even enjoyed inventing stories about her "employees."

She told them of "Madame's" latest affairs, which enthralled the other governesses, and she revealed that Monsieur was still attempting to break down the door to her quarters without success, and each day she had a new atrocity story concerning the "cook." In no time our friend was the most popular member of the group.

The trouble started when a few of the other governesses offered to get our friend a date on her day off. Also her son is starting to talk and she lives in fear he will one day call her Mamma.

The only thing we could advise her to do was move to another neighborhood. But it's a lesson to all of us. You start fooling around in the Parc Monceau and they're bound to catch up with you sooner or later. That's one of the reasons it's one of the best-run parks in the world.

How Did It All Happen?

LONDON (NANA)—Pictures in England are doing so well the Eady plan now subsidizes productions to the tune of 45 per cent. So there will be more films made here than ever before, and London really could become the capital of the movie world. The sound stages here are jammed and it takes only a couple of hours to fly to Rome, where the same situation exists. How did Hollywood allow all this to happen?

Chubby Checker is a big hit here in his British movie, It's Trad, Dad. Ouch! . . . And Frank Sinatra and the clan are cleaning up in their Sergeant's Three. Ditto for the Bing Crosby-Bob Hope Road to Hong Kong, though the critics didn't care too much for it.

MGM bought the West End play, The Glad and Sorry Season, for Juliet Mills, actress daughter of John and sister of Hayley.

Jose Ferrer talked to Gregory Peck in Hollywood about starring for him in The Long Ships, which Jose directs and Irving Allen produces in Yugoslavia. Irving told me here why Tito's country is so popular with movie-makers on a big scale—"It's the only place in the world where you can get 2,000 horses on the spot."

"We hope to get Burt Lancaster to play Oliver Cromwell," said Irving. "I was convinced Burt could play the part when I saw him as the German judge in Judgment at Nuremberg. The picture will be made in Yugoslavia because of Cromwell's big battle scenes and the Yugoslav army is always happy to help out moviemakers."

Transporting animals from one country to another can be very tough, producer Sam Spiegel discovered when he shipped 300 camels from Jordan to Spain for Lawrence of Arabia. Director David Lean hopes it will be in release before the end of the year to qualify for some Oscars. Lean's previous movie, Bridge on the River Kwai, has already earned $30,000,000.

Joan Collins has definitely resumed with Anthony Newley. I found Joan in Tony's dressing room backstage at the Queen's Theatre here, where he is starring in Stop the World—I Want to Get Off. It was obvious Joan was very much "that way" over Tony. They will both be coming to New York Newley to repeat in his revue on Broadway for David Merrick in September and Joan to clinch her American citizenship papers.

While the Vatican has done nothing to prevent Grace Kelly from making Marnie, when and if she does make it, there are rumors of a further declaration against the blatant carryings-on of Liz Taylor and Cleopatra co-star Richard Burton. The one thing that can save this movie, in my opinion, is to promote it as so "irresistibly excellent" that people will go to see it out of sheer curiosity. Nothing else will be enough!

Jack Lemmon's Dangerous Silence has been cancelled. The script never quite gelled.

RCMP Dogs Join Search For Housewife's Attacker

CAMPBELL RIVER — RCMP are using tracking dogs here in an effort to find a man who raped a Masters Road housewife late Monday.

Police said the woman had taken down window curtains and was shaking them on the back porch when she was accosted by a tall man who kept his face covered. The man pushed the woman back into the house, switched off the light and assaulted her. When the woman's three-year-old daughter called out the man fled.

The woman said she didn't realize until later the man had been wearing some of her husband's clothes. She recognized the odor of an asphalt material on the shirt the attacker wore.

She discovered later her husband's work clothes were missing from their garage. Her husband works in an asphalt plant and was out of town when the attack occurred.

Police said the man was wearing a shirt and a construction steel helmet belonging to the victim's husband and his face was covered with a dust cloth the woman used to clean the garage.

Abduction Admitted In Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER — A 25-year-old Victoria man was remanded for sentence here yesterday after pleading guilty to a charge of abduction.

William Elshaw was arrested by RCMP late Monday after a series of reports that a man had been seen trying to entice children into his car.

Residents told police that around 3 p.m. a man had attempted to pick up children near Campbell River High School and Cedar Street School.

Police then received a call from a Willow Point woman she had seen a man enter the bush near her home with a young girl. They arrested the man as he came out of the woods with the girl.

The man had lifted the girl into his car outside the Willow Point Community Hall, where a number of children were waiting for dancing lessons.

Who Earns What?

Wives Have Spoken — Now for Husbands

OSHAWA (CP) — Malcolm Smith has heard from the wives—now he's expecting to hear from the husbands.

The president of the 13,000-member Local 222 of the United Auto Workers (UAW) told the Oshawa and District Labor Council recently his members couldn't augment the picket line around a nearby project.

They were making so much overtime at General Motors "some are earning up to $140 to $150 a week."

Apparently this was news to a number of wives who telephoned Mr. Smith to inquire where the extra $30 to $50 a week was going.

"I want to stress," he said in a statement, "that the great majority earn less than $140 a week. But I still say some earn that much."

City Man Blames Raiding Tactics

TORONTO (CP) — The Civil Service Federation of Canada will be asked to strive for unity among civil service staff associations by the Employees' National Association of the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

The largest groups representing civil servants before government and the civil service commission on pay and working conditions are the federation with 85,000 members and the 20,000-member Civil Service Association of Canada.

G. K. Sammon of Victoria, president of the DVA group, reported earlier Wednesday that negotiations have been under way for some time for a merger of the federation and from the association.

MEMBERSHIP DOWN — Mr. Sammon blamed a reduction in association membership of about 500 on "raiding tactics" of the CSAC and the 6,000-member Professional Institute of Canada.

The fifth triennial convention also heard Fred Whitehouse, 68-year-old president of the CSF, announce that he will retire at the end of August.

F. J. Killen of Winnipeg, regional vice-president for Manitoba, and L. D. Cranston of Toronto were awarded honorary life memberships at the banquet. This year's convention marks Mr. Killen's retirement from the association.

Dental Chief Claims:

Fluoridation Proved By Broad Smiles In One U.S. Town

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — After a 17-year experiment, Grand Rapids and suburbs which use its water supply are all smiles because of fluoridation.

Grand Rapids helped pioneer fluoridation in 1945 and has been the site of periodic tests and evaluations by U.S. health department experts on variables from bone and blood to beauty.

MORE APPEALING? — Only last November a team of national and state public health and dental researchers made a photographic study of nearly 1,700 Central High School students' smiles—in color.

They sought to establish a classification of "improved appearance" of teeth due to the ingestion of fluoride.

Most of the students had drunk fluoridated water all their lives and the question was whether their teeth are "more appealing esthetically" than teeth developed in the absence of fluoride.

PRETTIER SMILES — Pending evaluation, some experts estimate that fluoridated smiles are "much better looking."

Even school teachers can tell, says Dr. Fred Wertheimer, director of the dental division of the Michigan department of health and recently named honorary president of the Michigan State Dental Association.

"We know that fluoride prevents an awful lot of tooth decay and the best way of doing it is to put it into the public water supply," he explains.

INEXPENSIVE — He supported his stand this way:

"We feel—and I'm speaking now for the Michigan department of health and the MSDA, both—that every public water supply should be fluoridated. It's inexpensive, easy, very effective, reduces dental caries by at least 66 per cent, and decay that appears is much less severe and teeth are better looking."

OBJECTIONS DECREASE — Dr. Wertheimer said objections to fluoridation "seem to be letting up."

He said anti-fluoridationist claims that hundreds of U.S. cities were discarding the fluoridation program are true—mainly because of political battles.

CASE WON — Grand Rapids Mayor Stanley J. Davis in March, 1961, appeared on a nationally-televized debate covering the merits of fluoridation. Mayor William Hartfield of Atlanta, Ga., presented the negative side.

"I think the kids in Grand Rapids prove that we won our case," says Davis.

IWA Chief Seeks New Vote

DUNCAN — IWA local president Weldon Jubenville last night told the Colonist he will seek a repeat of the recent area-wide vote which re-elected him.

He said the new election will be sought because an irregularity in voting at two large operations had the effect of disfranchising 600 union members.

Votes at Chemainus and Hillcrest exceeded by one the number of members who signed the balloting roster.

Hydro Motion Hit

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Power Corporation asked the court Wednesday to allow trial of its B.C. Electric actions to be completed before it rules on motions aimed at knocking out much of the corporation's case.

The request came during argument against a motion by counsel for the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority to have B.C. Electric Company struck out of the actions.

Douglas McK. Brown, counsel for the corporation, said the motion, along with several others introduced Tuesday, represents a full-scale attempt to prevent the calling of evidence in the case.

BCE Receivership Sought Once More

OTTAWA (CP)—The British Columbia Power Corporation served notice Wednesday it will appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada to have its expropriated subsidiary, B.C. Electric Company, placed back in receivership.

The corporation is the former parent company of B.C. Electric which the B.C. provincial government expropriated last August.

B.C. Power originally won an action in the province's supreme court placing B.C. Electric in receivership pending completion of court action in which the corporation sought to have the takeover legislation declared invalid.

However, the B.C. Appeal Court reversed the decision and took B.C. Electric out of receivership.

U.S. Fighting Preferences Says John D

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Wednesday night that the United States, among other countries, takes "strong objections" to the system of Commonwealth trade preferences.

He also reiterated that Britain's entry into the European Common Market might place a "strain" on the Commonwealth.

Mr. Diefenbaker, currently campaigning in Newfoundland, made the statements in a television address filmed here earlier.

Mr. Diefenbaker said trade is "one of the essential links in the bonds of Commonwealth," every member of which has benefited from the existing system of preferences.

Atomic Ships For Canada In the Future

QUEBEC CITY (UPI)—Canada will have nuclear warships when the size and construction costs are smaller, Vice-Adm. H. S. Kayner, chief of the Canadian naval staff, said last night.

Adm. Kayner said the present nuclear submarines were very big and extremely costly, but Canada was hoping that in the near future smaller submarines, similarly powered by nuclear force, could join the fleet.

ADMIRAL KAYNER

New Bond Issue

By PETER BRITTON

Premier Bennett says his $25,000,000 B.C. Hydro and Power Authority bond issue has been an outstanding success—so much so that a further issue of $54,200,000 of the 20-year, 5% per cent bonds will go on sale immediately.

He scoffed at reports that the $25,000,000 issue had been a flop but adamantly refused to say who had bought them or how they had been sold.

IN NEAR FUTURE
At the same time he announced that a further issue of B.C. Hydro and Power Authority bonds will be available in the near future to redeem the $40,000,000 B.C. Electric Company's sinking fund debentures, 6 per cent, series B. These bonds are dated Nov. 1, 1959, and mature on Nov. 1, 1964.

CRITICS THANKED
"I want to thank the people of B.C. for supporting the recent issue so thoroughly," Premier Bennett said. "And I want to thank the critics in the press, television and radio for lining up this support for us."

ONLY DOING DUTY
Mr. Diefenbaker said Canada and the other members of the Commonwealth have been "doing their duty" in pointing out how their trade might be weakened unless reasonable favorable terms are secured by Britain.

NEED FOR TERMS
"As a result of these representations the six nations of the Commonwealth realize that if the United Kingdom is to enter the Common Market they must recognize the need for terms that will assure that the bonds within the Commonwealth trade shall not be sacrificed."

COMES FIRST
Britain agreed that preservation of the Commonwealth comes first and that she will not join "the six" on terms that would "permanently or detrimentally" affect Commonwealth trade relations.

The communiqué issued following Mr. Diefenbaker's talks with Mr. Macmillan "answers once and for all the unjust, even untrue, propaganda that we have been opposed to Britain, or have been acting in a way that was unfair to Britain."

SAFEGUARDS
The communiqué said Mr. Macmillan had reaffirmed his government's determination to safeguard Commonwealth interests, and that Mr. Diefenbaker had expressed confidence Britain would "do its utmost" to that end.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that if a 20-per-cent tariff wall were placed around Common Market countries, including the United Kingdom, "it would have its effect on Canadian trade."

He mentioned Canadian exports of flour, wheat, lumber, salmon and chemicals. Seventy-six per cent of Canada's would be affected, he said.

Both Australia and New Zealand had expressed similar concern.

which borrowed the money to pay for the takeover of the B.C. Electric Company.

The premier was peppered with questions as to how he could reconcile statements by investment dealers that the last $25,000,000 issue had proven a failure and the fact that he now proposed to sell many millions more.

"I never tell who bought any bond," he said.

"Well, my bucket shop told me..." began one reporter.

"You're right!" exclaimed the premier. "Bucket shops. That's your word, not mine, but I hope you quote it. They're always against this government..."

Premier Bennett refused to

Exports Get Big Lift

By HARRY YOUNG

Colonist Business Editor

Pegging of the Canadian dollar at around 92½ cents U.S. will benefit British Columbia's important export business to a degree that cannot be entirely measured in actual dollars.

It will enable industries—especially the forest industry—to get into world markets which they were unable to reach on a competitive basis at a higher dollar exchange level.

This will also be true for the mining industry which in B.C. is going full tilt to provide iron and copper ores and coal for Japan.

The advantage to the mining industry will not only be in the shape of bigger profits, but also will enable more marginal ore to be considered worthy of development.

Surprise from Fleming Dollar Pegged at 92½c Ending 12-Year 'Float'

Unfair To Fair?

A. E. Walters, president of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said last night there are obvious advantages accruing from pegging of the Canadian dollar at 92½ cents U.S. "But, by gosh, it's going to make it difficult for us to go to the Seattle World's Fair."

FLEMING

... stability is goal

'Great Advantage To the Economy'

OTTAWA (CP)—In a surprise move the Canadian dollar's exchange value was pegged Wednesday at 92½ cents in U.S. funds—the lowest it has been since Canada adopted a "floating" exchange rate in September, 1950.

The new value, sharply below the 95½-cent exchange rate which has prevailed for two months, was announced by Finance Minister Fleming in a statement issued at 11:15 p.m.

The decision ends a period of nearly 12 years of a floating exchange rate in which the dollar's value has been determined by supply and demand forces in the market, with the government since December, 1950, providing some influence on those forces.

PRICE: 31.00
The new rate means that Canadians will have to pay $1.08 for a U.S. dollar.

The drop in rate is expected to give a strong boost to export earnings and discourage still further import buying by making import prices, in Canadian dollars, higher.

COSTLIER HOLIDAYS
It will mean, among other things, costlier vacation trips in the U.S. for Canadians—and cheaper ones in Canada for American tourists.

For the government, the pegging of the dollar will mean—under rules of the International Monetary Fund—that the government's exchange fund will have to intervene in the market by buying or selling U.S. dollars to ensure that the exchange rate doesn't move farther than one percentage point on either side of the 92½-cent rate.

The International Monetary Fund has been urging Canada to adopt a fixed exchange rate and Mr. Fleming's statement said the new rate has been

Nuclear Force For NATO Dead, Unburied

ATHENS (CP)—The NATO trend today is against the further spread of nuclear weapons within the alliance.

The United States was making this plain as foreign and defence ministers gathered in Athens for today's opening of the NATO council meeting.

External Affairs Minister Green and Defence Minister Harkness of Canada arrived by RCAF Comet jetliner after a 16-hour journey which saw their flight diverted as far north as Fraser Bay to avoid a giant storm over Newfoundland and Greenland.

Observers here say any plan for a NATO nuclear force is, to all intents and purposes, dead and finished.

Mac Leaves For Home

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan left for home Wednesday night amid strong indications that his visit gave Canadians a new understanding of problems facing Britain and its future links with Europe and the Commonwealth.

A spokesman for the British leader said Mr. Macmillan "feels that people responded well to his explanation of questions confronting Britain."

Bennett Relaxes For Campaign

Premier Bennett is going to sit back a while before throwing himself into the federal election campaign.

But he admitted yesterday that a cross-Canada tour may be in the cards.

"It's too early to have a schedule yet," he said at a press conference. "These other fellows are starting their campaigns far too early. Campaigning six to eight weeks before an election is ridiculous. Three weeks is enough."

He denied reports that he is to speak in the Maritimes in the next few days.

"I may go across in the last three weeks," he said.

Unions Lost 500,000

NEW YORK (UPI)—Membership in U.S. labor unions was reduced by about 500,000 between 1955 and 1961, it was reported yesterday.

The National Industrial Conference Board said the loss of members was the result of a trend that started in 1945 when decreasing gains in membership were first noted.

Sewn-Up Vote Frays at Parting

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—"Well, sir, glad to meet you, Mike," said 52-year-old A. S. Towgood as he pumped Lester Pearson's hand when the Liberal leader visited a senior citizens' home here Wednesday.

"And I'm glad to meet you," said Mr. Pearson.

Mr. Towgood: "Not often important people drop in like this. You're a good boy, Mike."

Mr. Pearson: "It's my pleasure."

As the Pearson party left a reporter asked Mr. Towgood: "Are you a Liberal?"

"Hell, no," said the old man.

Forget Firms
And Help
Smoke Victims

It's time city hall stopped considering smoke producers and started considering citizens who suffer from smoke and cinder fallout, Harold Gregson, 474 Barnside Road, said yesterday.

"It is nine months since the new smoke bylaw was adopted by city council and it appears to me not all smoke producing plants are meeting the requirements of the bylaw," he said.

ENOUGH TIME

"It is time we started prosecuting the offenders—they have had enough time to make any necessary alterations to their plants to come within the terms of the bylaw."

Mr. Gregson, a strong critic of the smoke situation in Victoria, is a member of city council's smoke advisory committee.

OPEN TO CONSIDER

Mr. Gregson called for appointment of a full-time smoke inspector for Victoria to police the bylaw. Present inspector Thomas Walker works part-time.

VISUAL CHECK

"I still feel it is necessary to have a full-time inspector to keep a visual check on the situation at different times of the night and day."

Mr. Gregson complained four weeks have passed since he suggested a meeting of the smoke committee should be held and nothing has been done.

ABOUT MONTH AGO

Chairman of the committee, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, offered to call a meeting if requested by Mr. Gregson about a month ago when Mr. Gregson last complained about the smoke problem.

Muscleman Sought

City police are seeking a husky thief who "lifted" a $25 set of barbells from a Pandora Avenue garage late Tuesday afternoon.

David Williams, 1226 Pandora, reported the theft to police yesterday. The barbells are five feet long and weigh 60 pounds.

Veteran Builder Predicts:

Chinatown Will Yield
To Business Centre

By JACK FRY

Victoria's Chinatown district, now fast becoming a slum area, will be the bustling new business centre of the city 50 years from now, a prominent building contractor said here yesterday.

The prediction was made by 82-year-old Walter Luney, who was honored during the 50th anniversary dinner of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange as one of the original founders and the only original member alive today.

CHANGED A LOT

Mr. Luney, who came here in 1883 from Toronto, retired four years ago as manager of Luney Bros. and Hamilton Ltd.

Victoria has changed a lot since the building exchange was founded here on May 26, 1912, and it's going to change a lot more in the next 50 years, he told a reporter shortly before last night's dinner.

NEEDS CLEANING

"It certainly has changed, and I've made a lot of changes since I came here," said Mr. Luney. He explained there's hardly a street where he has not constructed at least one building.

"During the next 50 years, Victoria is going to double its population. Chinatown needs cleaning out. The buildings want tearing down and to be rebuilt into modern business blocks," he said.

WILL MOVE IN

"I think business will move in there and that district between Esplanade and Johnson to the waterfront will some day be the business centre of Victoria."

Mr. Luney envisioned a development of office buildings and stores four or five storeys high for that part of town.

He said there is no other direction for the city to expand, that this area is "fast becoming a slum" and that it is "the only district open for business."

Special
Gavel

Small gavel handed to president Douglas Hunter, left, by past president George Farmer during 50th anniversary meeting last night of Victoria Building Industries Exchange, has sentimental value. It was painted golden color because it was first used when exchange was founded in 1912. Watching with interest in background are Walter Luney, left, only original member still living, and H. R. Montgomery, president of Canadian Construction Association. (Colonist photo.)

City Building Outlook:

No Labor Trouble

There will be no labor unrest in Victoria construction at least until the spring of 1964, a leader in the building industry here said last night.

George Farmer, president of Farmer Construction Ltd., made the forecast in his report as outgoing president of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange.

PRESIDENT CHOSEN

New president elected during yesterday's annual meeting at the Empress Hotel is Douglas Hunter, 38, a partner in the contracting firm of E. J. Hunter and Sons.

"With a three-year labor agreement already signed we will have stability with no labor unrest until the spring of 1964," said Mr. Farmer.

UNIONISTS PRASED

In this regard, he praised union leaders for "their co-operation and friendly attitude to employers."

He said the construction picture for 1962 "looks very bright with house building, apartments and schools leading the way."

"Across Canada and in the northwest, construction contract awards have shown a stronger increase during January and February of this year than in any similar period in 1961.

"This trend is reflected in Victoria and the indications are all phases of construction are on the increase," he said.

Birthday
Holiday
Talk Today

Whether the city will declare a holiday Aug. 27th 100th birthday, will be discussed at a meeting of city finance committee this morning.

Victoria Chamber of Commerce, representing city merchants, had gone on record as opposed to any holiday because of disruption which would be caused to the tourist trade.

But some members of finance committee still feel it would be fitting to declare a public holiday on the city's 100th birthday.

All-Candidates Forum
Due in Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI — Port Alberni and District Chamber of Commerce will sponsor an all-candidates public forum in this district before the federal election.

Date and place of the meeting are yet to be decided. With Social Credit scheduled to nominate May 12, there are presently four candidates in the field. Progressive Conservatives were unanimous in choosing incumbent member Harry C. McQuillan who has named Bill Helen of Port Alberni as his campaign manager.

DUNCAN — IWA local president Weldon Jubenville last night told the Colonist he will seek a repeat of the recent area-wide vote which re-elected him.

He said the new election will be sought because an irregularity in voting at two large operations had the effect of disfranchising 600 union members.

Votes at Chemainus and Hecstet exceeded by one the number of members who signed the balloting roster.

Some 40 drivers have signed for the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored teen-age roadie to be held at Esquimalt Sports Centre at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Entrants will be competing for the chance to represent Victoria in the provincial roadie in June.

Campbell River Case

RCMP Dogs Join Search
For Housewife's Attacker

CAMPBELL RIVER — RCMP are using tracking dogs here in an effort to find a man who raped a Masters Road housewife late Monday.

Police said the woman had taken down window curtains and was shaking them on the back porch when she was accosted by a tall man who kept his face covered. The man pushed the woman back into the house, switched off the light and assaulted her. When the woman's three-year-old daughter called out the man fled.

The woman said she didn't realize until later the man had been wearing some of her husband's clothes. She recognized the odor of an asphalt material on the shirt the attacker wore.

HUSBAND AWAY

She discovered later her husband's work clothes were missing from their garage. Her husband works in an asphalt plant and was out of town when the attack occurred.

Police said the man was wearing a shirt and a construction steel helmet belonging to the victim's husband and his face was covered with a dust cloth the woman used to clean the garage.

Abduction Admitted
In Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER — A 25-year-old Victoria man was remanded for sentence here yesterday after pleading guilty to a charge of abduction.

William Elshaw was arrested by RCMP late Monday after a series of reports that a man had been seen trying to entice children into his car.

Residents told police that around 3 p.m. a man had attempted to pick up children near Campbell River High School and Cedar Street School. Police then received a call from a Willow Point woman she had seen a man enter the bush near her home with a young girl. They arrested the man as he came out of the words with the girl.

The man had lifted the girl into his car outside the Willow Point Community Hall, where a number of children were waiting for dancing lessons.

The driver told the dancing teacher the child's parents had asked him to take her home. The teacher telephoned the mother, who called police.

PORT ALBERNI — Approximately 287 men were employed as a direct result of Alberni Valley winter employment committee's 1961-62 campaign, says Dave Sargent, committee secretary.

ITS PLACED

His report showed 104 men had been placed in jobs with local municipalities and 69 with householders between Sept. 15, 1961, and March 31.

An estimated 44 workers were employed on winter works projects on the west coast of the island and 60 Indians on projects on the reserves.

LITTLE CHANGE

The unemployment Insurance Commission local office reported 838 unemployed applicants April 30 as compared with 935 on the same date last year.

Benefit claimants numbered 675, while last year on April 30 the figure was 745.

"There is very little change in the general employment situation from last month or from last year at this time," said the office.

HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE: Liberal leader Lester Pearson went down to the Maritimes last week for some election campaigning.

At the airport he met a friend who said: "Mike, if you really want to win votes down here, you've got to pledge CBC hockey games will be telecast right from the start of the first period."

Mr. Pearson laughed at the joke.

A few hours later, during a speech, he received a fair amount of applause as he hammered away at the issues of the day.

And, in passing, he mentioned Toronto Maple Leaf star Red Kelly would be a Liberal candidate.

The roof nearly fell in as the audience shouted their applause. Mr. Pearson knew a good thing when he saw one. "And I'd just like to say," he hurriedly continued, "that, although I don't know quite what we can do about R, we will try to get the CBC to telecast those hockey games right from the first period."

The people down there are still cheering.

RANDOM HARVEST: When Dr. John Davis was nominated Liberal candidate in the Coast-Caplan riding, many people in the party felt he lacked the "common touch" and the necessary ability to win the support of voters. So who's in the lead in providing a razzle-dazzle campaign in Vancouver? Dr. Davis, of course. . . . Victoria's Bert McPhillips leaves no stone unturned in his bid to win votes for the Conservatives. North Cowichan Sets Date For School Vote Parley NORTH COWICHAN—Municipal council decided yesterday that its members will meet members of the Cowichan school board and representatives of the city of Duncan to discuss the proposed $668,343 school building referendum.

The meeting will be held May 7 in Cowichan Secondary School. The referendum will be placed before taxpayers for their road from Trouhalem Road blacktopped. The school will pay for material and labor.

Council approved annual grants totalling $2,346 to 24 organizations in North Cowichan but Reeve Donald Morton hinted no grant should be taken for granted but received a donation to which council has no obligation.

The Corpus Christi sports committee received its first grant, $50, after the reeve pointed out the annual canoe races are to be held in the municipality for the first time.

Council normally does not carry out any work for private groups but granted a request from St. Ann's School to have their road from Trouhalem Road blacktopped. The school will pay for material and labor.

Reeve Morton felt this was an exceptional case as St. Ann's is celebrating its centenary.

Council decided that, before advising the department of highways whether a third traffic lane at the Theta ferry slip in Chemainus is practical and feasible, its public works committee will investigate further.

Theta Islanders recently approached the department asking for a traffic lane leading directly onto the ferry slip to prevent traffic congestion.

Unfair to Business

Council felt it would not be fair to businesses at the ferry terminal if parking spaces in front of the stores were used to build the lane.

Taxpayers Joan R. Gibson and Mary L. Boudot said the proposed widening of Mount Sicker Road may interfere with their water supply from a creek needed for livestock, and could also mar the landscape.

Although Coun. Tony Staples said the water supply would not be affected, the public works department will investigate and consider the complaint.

Coun. Staples said part of the creek bed might have to be changed.

Public works crews were authorized to buy a line marker for $2,100. Coun. Staples said the extensive blacktopping program has forced marks for safety's sake.

Council did not object to renewal of a foreshore lease for the Chemainus Towing Co. by the superintendent of lands.

Reeve Morton pointed out the lease is only for five years with no obligation to council to grant a further lease extension in 1967.

Drivers Given Two Warnings

CAMPBELL RIVER—RCMP here yesterday pointed out two traffic rules and said that if they are not observed police will be forced to take appropriate action.

PARKSVILLE—Joanne Ferguson will reign over the May Day celebrations, which have been delayed until June 2 due to conflicting dates of school sports events. Joanne will be crowned during an afternoon ceremony following a parade of floats through the village.

The PTA is sponsoring the May Day events except for the parade, which is being arranged by Parksville Kinsmen Club. Bob Doughty, parade committee chairman, has urged co-operation of local residents and merchants in making the parade bigger and better.

Cairn Marks First School

DUNCAN—Members of the Mount Prevost Post No. 10, Native Sons of B.C., yesterday morning laid the foundation of a cairn to mark the site of the first Cowichan church and school near the intersection of the Trans-Canada Highway and Drinkwater Road.

The log building, no longer in existence, was erected in 1863, one year after the first white settlers arrived in this district.

Bishop Hills sent lumber, window sashes and nails from Victoria and soon the school opened with 23 pupils paying a monthly fee of 25 cents each.

The local post previously erected three monuments at the corner of Cowichan Bay Road and Bench Road in commemoration of Robert Service, the first settlers and Cowichan pioneer women.

The newest project is partly financed by the group and local Anglican churches will donate a plaque mounted on a top stone. Approximate cost of the cairn is $250.

U.S. Fighting Preferences Says John D.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Wednesday night that the United States, among other countries, takes "strong objections" to the system of Commonwealth trade preferences.

He also reiterated that Britain's entry into the European Common Market might place a "strain" on the Commonwealth.

Mr. Diefenbaker, currently campaigning in Newfoundland, made the statements in a television address filmed here earlier.

Mr. Diefenbaker said trade is "one of the essential links in the bonds of Commonwealth," every member of which has benefited from the existing system of preferences.

STRONG OBJECTIONS

Preferential tariffs would end unless the six member nations of the Common Market "agree otherwise as a condition of Britain joining."

CONCLUDED TALKS

Tuesday Mr. Diefenbaker concluded two days of talks here with British Prime Minister Macmillan, mainly on the Common Market issue.

The Canadian leader said Wednesday night Britain has the right to decide for herself whether to join the Common Market.

PLACE STRAIN

"However, if she does join, questions arise which must be answered. Would she not thereby place a strain on the Commonwealth as the common primary allegiance to Europe and undertakes to accept decisions of European institutions of the future?"

ONLY DOING DUTY

Mr. Diefenbaker said Canada and the other members of the Commonwealth have been "doing their duty" in pointing out how their trade might be weakened unless reasonably favorable terms are secured by Britain.

NEED FOR TERMS

"As a result of these representations the six nations of the Commonwealth realize that if the United Kingdom is to enter the Common Market they must recognize the need for terms that will assure that the bonds within the Commonwealth trade shall not be sacrificed."

Canada had "taken a stand that Britain fully understands."

COMES FIRST

Britain agreed that preservation of the Commonwealth comes first and that she will not join "the six" on terms that would "permanently or detrimentally" affect Commonwealth trade relations.

The communique issued following Mr. Diefenbaker's talks with Mr. Macmillan "answers once and for all the unjust, even untrue, propaganda that we have been opposed to Britain, or have been acting in a way that was unfair to Britain."

SAFEGUARDS

The communique said Mr. Macmillan had reaffirmed his government's determination to safeguard Commonwealth interests, and that Mr. Diefenbaker had expressed confidence Britain would "do its utmost" to that end.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that if a 20-per-cent tariff wall were placed around Common Market countries, including the United Kingdom, "it would have its effect on Canadian trade."

He mentioned Canadian exports of flour, wheat, lumber, salmon and chemicals. Seventy-six per cent of Canada's exports would be affected, he said.

Both Australia and New Zealand had expressed similar concern.

Mac Leaves For Home

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan left for home Wednesday night amid strong indications that his visit gave Canadians a new understanding of problems facing Britain and its future links with Europe and the Commonwealth.

A spokesman for the British leader said Mr. Macmillan "feels that people responded well to his explanation of questions confronting Britain."

Atomic Ships For Canada In the Future

QUEBEC CITY (UPI)—Canada will have nuclear warships when the size and construction costs are smaller, Vice-Adm. H. K. Rayner, chief of the Canadian naval staff, said last night.

Adm. Rayner said the present nuclear submarines were very big and extremely costly, but Canada was hoping that in the near future smaller submarines, similarly powered by nuclear force, could join the fleet.

Bennett Floats New Bond Issue

By PETER BRUTON

Premier Bennett says his $25,000,000 B.C. Hydro and Power Authority bond issue has been an outstanding success—so much so that a further issue of $54,200,000 of the 20-year, 5 1/2 per cent bonds will go on sale immediately.

He scoffed at reports that the $25,000,000 issue had been a flop but adamantly refused to say who had bought them or how they had been sold.

IN NEAR FUTURE

At the same time he announced that a further issue of B.C. Hydro and Power Authority bonds will be available in the near future to redeem the $40,000,000 B.C. Electric Company's sinking fund debentures, 6 per cent, series B. These bonds are dated Nov. 1, 1959, and mature on Nov. 1, 1984.

CRITICS THANKED

"I want to thank the people of B.C. for supporting the recent issue so thoroughly," Premier Bennett said. "And I want to thank the critics in the press, television and radio for lining up this support for us."

The total issue of $79,200,000 will be used to redeem all the outstanding short-term notes of the Crown-owned B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

No Fund For Doctors

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. H. N. Watson, president of the B.C. Medical Association, Wednesday denied a report that his group offered financial help to Saskatchewan doctors leaving the province because of its impending state medical plan. (See Page 15.)

The report originated in Saskatchewan and occasioned protests at a meeting of the Vancouver and District Labor Council Tuesday night.

The communique issued following Mr. Diefenbaker's talks with Mr. Macmillan "answers once and for all the unjust, even untrue, propaganda that we have been opposed to Britain, or have been acting in a way that was unfair to Britain."

He mentioned Canadian exports of flour, wheat, lumber, salmon and chemicals. Seventy-six per cent of Canada's exports would be affected, he said.

Both Australia and New Zealand had expressed similar concern.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that if a 20-per-cent tariff wall were placed around Common Market countries, including the United Kingdom, "it would have its effect on Canadian trade."

which borrowed the money to pay for the takeover of the B.C. Electric Company.

The premier was peppered with questions as to how he could reconcile statements by investment dealers that the last $25,000,000 issue had proven a failure and the fact that he now proposed to sell many millions more.

"I never tell who bought any bond," he said.

"Well, my bucket shop told me..." began one reporter.

"You're right!" exclaimed the premier. "Bucket shops. That's your word, not mine. But I hope you quote it."

"They're always against this government..."

He added: "It's funny how the premier's things always work out."

Premier Bennett refused to

DOLLAR PEGGED AT 92½ CENTS

Unfair To Fair?

A. E. Walters, president of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said last night there are obvious advantages accruing from pegging of the Canadian dollar at 92½ cents U.S. "But, by gosh, it's going to make it difficult for us to go to the Seattle World's Fair."

Exports Get Big Lift

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Pegging of the Canadian dollar at around 92½ cents U.S. will benefit British Columbia's important export business to a degree that cannot be entirely measured in actual dollars.

It will enable industries—notably the forest industry—to get into world markets which they were unable to reach on a competitive basis at a higher dollar-exchange level.

This will also be true for the mining industry which in B.C. is going full tilt to provide iron and copper ores and coal for Japan.

The advantage to the mining industry will not only be in the shape of bigger profits, but also will enable more marginal ore to be considered worthy of development.

FLEMING... stability is goal

'Great Advantage To the Economy'

OTTAWA (CP)—In a surprise move the Canadian dollar's exchange value was pegged Wednesday at 92½ cents in U.S. funds—the lowest it has been since Canada adopted a "floating" exchange rate in September, 1950.

The new value, sharply below the 95½-cent exchange rate which has prevailed for two months, was announced by Finance Minister Fleming in a statement issued at 11:15 p.m.

The decision ends a period of nearly 12 years of a floating exchange rate in which the dollar's value has been determined by supply and demand forces in the market, with the government providing some influence on those forces.

PRICE $1.00

The new rate means that Canadians will have to pay $1.08 for a U.S. dollar.

The drop in rate is expected to give a strong boost to export earnings and discourage still further import buying by making import prices, in Canadian dollars, higher.

COSTLIER HOLIDAYS

It will mean, among other things, costlier vacation trips in the U.S. for Canadians—and cheaper ones in Canada for American tourists.

For the government, the pegging of the dollar will mean—under rules of the International Monetary Fund—that the government's exchange fund will have to intervene in the market by buying or selling U.S. dollars to ensure that the exchange rate doesn't move farther than one percentage point on either side of the 92½-cent rate.

The International Monetary Fund has been urging Canada to adopt a fixed exchange rate and Mr. Fleming's statement said the new rate has been

Nuclear Force For NATO Dead, Unburied

ATHENS (CP)—The NATO trend today is against the further spread of nuclear weapons within the alliance.

The United States was making this plain as foreign and defence ministers gathered in Athens for today's opening of the NATO council meeting.

External Affairs Minister Green and Defence Minister Harkness of Canada arrived by RCAF Comet jetliner after a 16-hour journey which saw their flight diverted as far north as Frobisher Bay to avoid a giant storm over Newfoundland and Greenland.

Observers here say any plan for a NATO nuclear force is, in all intents and purposes, dead and buried.

Undermining CLC Labor Probes Internal Strife

WASHINGTON (CP)—The top labor union bodies of Canada and the United States will hold a liaison committee session here June 4 to find some way of resolving international union feuding that threatens to undermine the power of the Canadian Labor Congress.

William J. Schnitzler, secretary-treasurer of the 12,500-member AFL-CIO, said Wednesday he is confident an answer will be found to the problem "or the alternative may be the complete breakdown of labor union relations between Canada and the U.S.—and who would ever imagine that would happen?"

Schnitzler, who met with Claude Jodoin, president of the 1,000,000-member CLC, said the conflict between the CLC and the International Carpenters Union is not too serious and likely will be resolved "when emotions cool off."

STOP PAYING DUES

The 800,000-member Carpenters union, with some 65,000 members in Canada, has stopped paying dues to the CLC, charging that the congress has been unfair to the union in the Newfoundland loggers' dispute. Carpenters and the International Woodworkers Union have been locked in a jurisdictional battle over loggers' membership.

Acquitting the Carpenters of a charge of raiding the Woodworkers but finding the Carpenters guilty of violating CLC policy, the congress has called for a vote among the 15,000 Newfoundland loggers to decide on a union of their choice. The Carpenters refused and walked out of the CLC convention in Vancouver last month. They face automatic suspension from the CLC if they don't pay up their dues by the end of June.

Bennett Relaxes For Campaign

Premier Bennett is going to sit back a while before throwing himself into the federal election campaign.

But he admitted yesterday that a cross-Canada tour may be in the cards.

"It's too early to have a schedule yet," he said at a press conference. "These other fellows are starting their campaigns far too early. Campaigning six to eight weeks before an election is ridiculous. Three weeks is enough."

He denied reports that he is to speak in the Maritimes in the next few days.

"I may go across in the last three weeks," he said.

Unions Lost 500,000

NEW YORK (UPI)—Membership in U.S. labor unions was reduced by about 500,000 between 1956 and 1961, it was reported yesterday.

The National Industrial Conference Board said the loss of members was the result of a trend that started in 1945 when decreasing gains in membership were first noted.

Sewn-Up Vote Frays at Parting

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—"Well, sir, glad to meet you, Mike," said 92-year-old A. S. Towgood as he pumped Lester Pearson's hand when the Liberal leader visited a senior citizens' home here Wednesday.

"And I'm glad to meet you," said Mr. Pearson.

Mr. Towgood: "Not often important people drop in like this. You're a good boy, Mike."

Mr. Pearson: "It's my pleasure."

As the Pearson party left a reporter asked Mr. Towgood: "Are you a Liberal?"

Game Of War
